PRICE TWO CENTS

CITY PLAYGROUNDS CUT IN HALF THE DELINQUENCY LIST

Chief Prepares Figures for This Year Showing Remarkable Decrease in Juvenile Sentences

FORMERLY "WENT UP" BY DOZEN

"Playfields Cut Delinquency in Half" Says Chief
After Examining Records

Municipal playgrounds are translated into terms of better childhood in a report on juvenile delinquency in La Crosse, furnished to Miss Nadia Thomas, secretary of the Associated Charities, by Chief of Police John B. Webber today. Miss Thomas will read the report at the state conference of charities and correction at Wausau.

Only Three "Sent Up"

Two boys have been "sent up" from La Crosse since January—one to the Green Bay reformatory, the other to the Waubesa industrial school. One girl has been sent to the Milwaukee state school for girls. The chief today made a comparison of this record with years before the public playgrounds had been established in La Crosse. As high as sixteen boys were yearly sent to the reformatory from La Crosse, the chief's figures showed, after he had gone back over the records. And one year six girls were "put away."

"We have had trouble with just 34 boys this year," Chief Webber said, discussing the figures. "Only eight girls have come under the attention of the department. In years before we had the playgrounds there were literally scores every year. I believe that since the playgrounds have been keeping the children wholesomely amused juvenile delinquency has fallen off fifty per cent in La Crosse."

Had No Place to Go
"Nine-tenths of the youngsters that got into trouble before we had the playgrounds were just mischief-kiddies who had nothing to do and no place to go. They'd hang around the railroad yards and other places they had no business to be, and Satan generally found something for their idle hands."

The chief prepared a digest of sentences of minors to the reformatory and industrial schools today, covering the eight years from 1907 until 1914. This is how it reads:

In 1907, six boys and two girls; in 1908, twelve boys and two girls; in 1909, three boys and two girls; in 1910, fourteen boys and three girls; in 1911, sixteen boys and three girls; in 1912, eight boys and four girls; in 1913, four boys and one girl; in 1914, six boys and six girls.

Most Delinquents 16
Of the 34 boys in trouble since the first of this year, most of them were up for petty offenses which did not even get into the courts. Nineteen were paroled after a "talking to" by the chief. Six were paroled by the court. Seven were fined. The ages of the youngsters ranged from 9 to 19 years, and the largest class in trouble were boys of 16. There were eight boys of this age delinquent for one cause or another, and the figures dropped off for the ages above and below.

The eight girls who are registered as having been delinquent in the year range from 14 to 18 years. Five of them were released by the chief on promise of good behavior. One was paroled by the court, and one was fined. The other one was deemed incorrigible, and sent to the Milwaukee School.

PROGRESS CLAIMED
ON THREE FRONTS
BERLIN, via London, Oct. 18.—Progress, or at least the enemy's repulse, was claimed today in the war office's statement concerning the western and Russian war fronts. In Serbia, it was asserted, steady advances were being made by the Germans and their Austrian and Bulgarian allies.

RATES UPHELD
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The interstate commerce commission ruled today that proposed switching rates on the Union Stock Yards Terminal railway in South Omaha, were justified with the exception of the rate on dead freight to non-proprietary industries.

VILLA'S "NAVY" IS CAPTURED BODILY
BY CARRANZISTAS

GALVESTON, Texas, Oct. 18.—The entire Villa navy has been captured on the Pacific coast by a Carranzista fleet, according to a message received here today by the Carranzista agency.

The "navy" consisted of the gunboat Bonita, while the fleet comprised the constitutionalist gunboats Guerrero and Korrigan II.

Who Is The Greatest Man In Wisconsin?

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The announcement of a committee of citizens to name the most distinguished citizen in Wisconsin who will be honored at the Panama-Pacific exposition has brought to the fore here a sentiment favoring the naming of Dr. S. M. Babcock of the university, inventor of the Babcock milk test, who gave the invention free to the people of the state. The committee named by Gov. Philipp to make the selection has held no meeting and it is not known what plan it will follow. In Pennsylvania the newspapers of the state conducted a voting contest for the committee and the person receiving the largest number of bona-fide votes was selected.

The committee which will make the choice is headed by Dr. E. G. Updike of this city as chairman.

A number of other names have been suggested. This list includes the name of ex-Gov. W. D. Hoard of Fort Atkinson, who has done much for the state along dairying lines; Senator Robert M. La Follette in the field of statesmanship; Richard T. Ely and John R. Commons in the field of economics, and Paul S. Reinsch in the field of diplomacy. The names of two well known clergymen, Rev. Judson Titusworth and Archbishop S. G. Messmer, both of Milwaukee, have also been mentioned.

ST. LOUIS FLYER HAS PLAN FOR AEROPLANE MAIL DELIVERY ROUTES

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 18.—Two aerial mail routes in the St. Louis postal district, manned by government aviators in government aeroplanes, will be a reality if congress decides favorably upon proposals contained in the postoffice department's plans, according to Albert Bond Lambert of St. Louis, millionaire manufacturer and aviator. The routes are designed to save twelve hours in the delivery of mail to sections in Missouri and Illinois not traversed by railroads. One route, Rolla to Carbondale, Mo., would connect Licking and Houston, intermediate points not on any railroad, and would be the only direct communication between the towns on the course. The same situation prevails on the other course, Peru, Mo., to Pearl, Ill., touching ten towns.

"Aerial mail service would be of great benefit in many sections of the country," said Lambert today, "and also in Alaska where two-hour aeroplanes would cut twenty-two hours off some postal schedules. Congress will be asked to ratify the proposed Missouri-Illinois lines and many others suggested in the postoffice plan. The plan would dovetail with the preparedness program providing practical flights for an increased force of army aviators."

GREAT BATTLE IN BALKANS IMPENDS AS TROOPS ADVANCE

ALLIES CONTROL PART OF ROAD

Fall of Strumitza Gives
Entente Forces a Good
Start on Important
Railroad

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The allies pressed northward in Bulgaria today. The Austro-Germans smashed their way southward through Serbia at the same time. The allies' progress was, for the moment, swifter than the Teutons. The Serbians still resisted the latter desperately. The allies had not yet been strongly opposed. That the two forces will meet soon is thought unavoidable.

Strumitza's fall gave the allies control of the Salonika-Nish railroad for fifty miles northward from Salonika about a third of the distance to Nish. Salonika advises said. Strumitza, the Bulgarian stronghold, is twenty miles east of the railroad, but it was reported the Serbo-French-British forces were spreading westward and securing the line at the same time that they advanced northward.

Their object was believed to be to extend their front sufficiently to reach Nish and strike at Sofia, the Bulgarian capital at this time, giving them a line a little more than sixty miles long.

About another third of the distance between Salonika and Nish, however, there were indications there would be a fierce struggle.

At this point the Bulgarians were across the Serbian frontier and it was reliably reported they had cut the railroad at the Serbian town of Vranja (Vranja). Here, if not sooner, it was assumed they would make a stand.

Strumitza's capture was preceded by the repulse of the force of forty thousand Bulgarians reported last week to be trying to cut the railroad between Hudovo and Vilandovo, on the Serbian side of the Greek frontier. The allies drove these invaders eastward into Bulgaria and dislodged them when they took refuge at Strumitza.

News that Field Marshal von Mackensen, commanding the Austro-Germans in northern Serbia, had called for more men, gave much encouragement here. Though it was admitted he was advancing, military experts were sure he himself considered (Continued on Page 6, Col. 5.)

MISSION MEN TELL HOW THEY ROSE FROM UNDERWORLD

One a Prize-fighter and Crook; One an Actor and
Hobo; One a Gangster;
Tales Told at Meet

WEEP AS THEY RECALL THE PAST

"It Ain't Nice to Open Old Wounds" Explains Famous "Lucky Baldwin"

"The blood was running down my legs from bullet wounds, for I'd just been in a fight with three coppers. My slats were caved in. I don't know where the handle of my map was—probably 'twas siewed around under one ear. I had a face on me like the bark of a tree. My scenery? Say, I didn't have enough on me to patch a button-hole. And I closed my eyes, and looked up and saw the crucified Jesus."—Lucky Baldwin's story of his conversion.

One was a prize fighter and a confidence man. One was fresh from a three weeks' spree that cost him $4,000. One was an actor and later a hobo. Two were ministers. One was a bowery gangster. Last night they told a spellbound audience how they had gone into rescue mission work, told it, as they said, "not for the glory of man but for the glory of God."

Weep at Experiences

It was the opening session of the Mission Superintendents' convention last night at the First Presbyterian church. Some of the superintendents shed tears as they gave their testimony. As Christopher J. Balf, superintendent of the Prison Gate mission in Chicago, known as "Lucky Baldwin," said: "It ain't nice to open wounds and put salt in 'em after they're long closed."

"Lucky Baldwin" didn't tell his story, except for fragmentary snapshots. He is to give his testimony tonight. But the short description he gave of himself, and the plight in which he described himself as having been in when his conversion took place, held the audience which filled the church.

"I never was no prize fighter, he said. "I never trained for a fight in my life. Every time a guy hit me a punch in the map I just handed me a receipt for no five ounce gloves. I fought with the gloves God gave me, and fightin' was my breath of life. Why, I wasn't never so happy as when I was throwing my right wing on the handle of a copper's map. And when I was converted, I was still a fighter. I never wore a wrist watch in my life."

"It ain't nice to open wounds and put salt in 'em after they're long closed, but tomorrow night I'll give my testimony. And when I do, I want to tell you it'll be done for the glory of God, not for the glory of man."

A Boxer and Con Man
"Lucky Baldwin's" talk, in language still reminiscent of New York's east side, was not the only interesting one last night. James Daubney of Sioux Falls, S. D., was a successful English boxer for ten years, he said, until drink and bad company made a confidence man of him.

"And then," he said, "I was a successful crook, with one of the biggest gangs in the country, until they closed a net around me I couldn't break. In and out of prison I was, for I'd rather get a dollar crooked than two straight, until I faced trial on a charge that would have sent me up for ten to twenty years. There were eighteen charges of false pretenses in the case, and everyone deserted me except my mother. I got off that time, and came to this country—drunk. From Nova Scotia to Saginaw, Mich., I came somehow—2,600 miles bumming my way on freights. And I was drunk when I wandered into the Saginaw mission. As I staggered down the aisle the woman whom God has given me for my wife shrank away from me—afraid. But the men there said they loved me, and that got me."

Drink Spoiled Yegg's Work
Interesting were the experiences in mission work told by some of the speakers. H. E. Ramseyer of Duluth told of a crackman who came and sought help against drink, because it prevented him from working at his trade of safeblowing. He told of a burglar who wandered into his mission to kill time before starting out to rob a wealthy man's house in Duluth, and was converted. W. F. Williams, "sky pilot of the north woods," described his conversion at the end of a three weeks' jag that cost him $4,000 he had just made from a big engineering job for a railroad. He came into Minneapolis at the end of his spree, he said, penniless and riding in a refrigerator car.

The superintendents spoke at churches of the city yesterday morning. Yesterday afternoon they had a prayer meeting at the Rescue Mission, and as "Lucky Baldwin" entered the little room he stopped short and closed his eyes in a brief prayer.

GERMANY PROTESTS THAT BRITISH FLYING U. S. FLAG KILLED SWIMMERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The state department will investigate thoroughly affidavits which Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, has forwarded from New York affirming that the British patrol boat Baralong, flying the American flag, fired on the steamer Nicolson and killed several German sailors.

Following the usual course, however, the state department will first get any additional information possible, both from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin and Ambassador Page at London.

High state department officials indicated today that no action would be taken. The affidavits filed by Berlin alleged that ten German submarine sailors were killed in violation of international law.

The report of the use of the American flag by the British patrol boat which sunk the submarine, it was stated, offered the only international question. It was definitely declared that the right of warships to use the flag of a neutral nation as a ruse, whether in attacking or in flight, has been clearly established, and recognized, in actual practice for over a hundred years.

The killing of the German sailors as they were trying to escape does not devolve any duty upon this government to protest to Great Britain, according to the present attitude of the state department. This alleged barbarity stands on the same international legal footing as alleged atrocities in Belgium.

That the alleged act of the British patrol makes more difficult this government's demands that German submarines exercise the right of visit and search before sinking merchant ships was said to be possible.

Six Cent Suit Is Filed Today To Clear Title

Mrs. Jessie M. Holway, 1419 Cass street, executrix of the Holway estate, today started suit through her attorneys in circuit court to recover six cents from the McMillan company and to have the court give her clear title to property on Main street between Third and Fourth streets.

The property in question is a brick building now occupied by the cigar store of Walter O. Hoesley.

Mrs. Holway maintains that she is sole owner of the building, occupying lots four and five in the addition in which it is located, but that the McMillan company claims ownership of the premises.

She asks damages of six cents and a clear title to the property.

IGNORANCE AND DISHONESTY FIGHT LAW SAYS "BOB"

Campaign Against Seamen's
Labor Law Is Compared

WOULD INTIMIDATE PRESIDENT
Senior Senator in Statement
Today Carefully
Explains the Law

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 18.—Practically on the eve of the date when the Seamen's law which bears his name is to become effective, Senator La Follette today issued a long statement characterizing the campaign being waged against the law as a "combination of ignorance and dishonesty."

"The same power which organized the press of the country to force from the Interstate Commerce Commission a decision favorable to the railroads in the one hundred million dollar advance rate case, is behind the nation-wide newspaper raid on the Seamen's law," says Senator La Follette in a long editorial statement today. "The same motive and the same selfish interest has inspired both attacks. The same power which controls transportation by land controls transportation by water. In the advance rate case, its literary bureau printed thousands of pages of 'dope' news articles and editorial comment in the leading dailies, the great weeklies, and the monthly magazines. Its victory in that case encouraged it to undertake the building up of a false public sentiment against the Seamen's law, intended to intimidate President Wilson and stampede congress into modifying or repealing the statute altogether."

Senator La Follette explains in detail every provision of the law and declares it is to protect the lives and safety of people. He tells of the many years that have passed during which this legislation has been urged and adds that the failure of President Taft to sign the bill after it had passed both houses of the sixty-second congress "was one of the most indefensible acts of his unfortunate administration."

"The opposition to this measure is a combination of ignorance and dishonesty," declares Senator La Follette in conclusion. "Its defeat session after session by the steamship companies, aided by the corporation press of the country, has been the cause of many horrifying disasters at sea and on the Great Lakes. The effort to repeal it, involving as it does a great majority of the newspapers and periodicals of the country is a shame and a reproach to the American press."

PAPAL FINANCES BAD

ROME, Oct. 18.—Papal finances are undergoing a crisis owing to the war, according to the Giornale Lavori Pubblici. Peter's Pence was said to be yielding a minimum and it was stated the vatican plans to appeal to American Catholics.

FINAL MOVE MADE FOR RECOGNITION OF FIRST CHIEF

United States Formally Acknowledges New De Facto Government of Carranza

OTHER NATIONS TO FOLLOW?

Latin-American Representatives Expected to Deliver Notes of Recognition to Carranza's Agent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The final step in recognition of the Carranza government in Mexico was taken today. With the United States taking the lead, informally acknowledging establishment of the new de facto government, delivery of a note this evening by Secretary of State Lansing to Eliseo Arredondo, Carranza's representative here, was the plan agreed upon.

Similar notes to Arredondo was the form of recognition scheduled by several Latin-American countries. Other South and Central American nations will send new credentials to their diplomatic representatives already in Mexico City.

The conference this afternoon of the Pan-American delegates was to be the last. Arredondo was to appear officially before the conferees for notification.

Immediate re-establishment of an arms embargo on the border is planned. President Wilson's proclamation was drafted and was expected to be issued late today.

All official and unofficial relations with Villa, Zapata and other revolutionary leaders cease today. Incidentally, the agreement of Villa with General Scott, chief of staff, for a neutral zone at Agua Prieta and other points to avoid firing on American soil also ends. Retaliation of Villa's dwindling army into northern Sonora is expected to prevent differences on this score arising.

The plight of General Huerta, held for trial at Fort Bliss on a charge of violating United States neutrality, now becomes more serious. Carranza is expected to demand his extradition for trial on a charge of murdering former President Madero. Huerta will probably be delivered to Carranza if this government is convinced of Carranza's good faith to try Huerta, not as a political offender, but as an alleged murderer.

Henry Prather Fletcher, of Chambersburg, Pa., was today considered a likely choice for ambassador to Mexico. He is now ambassador to Chile and has been in the diplomatic service since 1902.

The same grounds for his choice, familiarity with Latin-American affairs, applies to two other prominently mentioned diplomats, Edwin V. Morgan, now ambassador to Brazil, and Frederic J. Stimson, ambassador to Argentina. The selection was expected to be made at the conference.

ACTIVITIES OF SUBMARINES OF ENGLAND MYSTERY

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 18.—By just what means the British submarines, which have been so busy lately in the Baltic, succeeded in running the sounds and straits connecting the Baltic and North seas is the subject of much speculation here.

Information was at hand today indicating that the undersea craft have been entering the Baltic one or two at a time for two or three months. It is believed a considerable fleet is now

TOMAH MAN IS UNCONSCIOUS FROM TUMBLE

Edward McCullough Thrown from Wagon; Physicians Are Unable to Determine Injuries

TOMAH, Wis., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Edward McCullough, who lives south of the city and is a brother of George McCullough of Tomah, was thrown from his farm wagon onto the brick pavement in Superior avenue Saturday afternoon and seriously injured. Late Saturday night he was still unconscious and attending physicians were unable to determine the exact extent of his injuries.

Little Girl Hurt

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Swift had a narrow escape from serious injury Wednesday afternoon while driving with her father. Mr. Swift stopped his horse suddenly and the little girl was thrown to the pavement. Her head was severely bruised.

It is with regret that the people of Tomah have learned that Mr. R. Strouse is about to go out of business. Mr. Strouse has conducted one of the largest dry goods stores in the city for a number of years.

Butts is Hero of Game

The high school football team played a very good game of ball with New Lisbon on Saturday—the score being 20 to 0 in Tomah's favor. The three touchdowns were made in the first, second and fourth quarter, all by Stanley Butts.

Mrs. J. G. Graham entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner on Friday evening for Mrs. H. A. Clarke. Other out of town guests were Mrs. Frank King of Chicago and Mrs. L. W. Bailey of Hudson.

Local and Personal

Mr. R. Strouse was in La Crosse on business the latter part of the week.

The next meeting of the Civic Improvement club will be held on Friday of this week instead of Thursday on account of the Rebekkah convention to be held here.

Walter Drew of Chicago is visiting at the home of his parents in the city.

Mrs. L. W. Bailey, who has been the guest of relatives for the past two weeks, has gone to Camp Douglas and Milwaukee, where she will visit before returning to her home in Hudson, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank King of Chicago are the guests of their parents this week.

Miss Lucile Kyle spent the weekend in La Crosse with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Grovestein, who recently sold out their moving picture business at Arcadia, are going to locate on Mr. Grovestein's father's farm south of town.

Burton L. Warriner has been appointed by Judge Higbee as assistant official stenographer for the Sixth Judicial district and also court commissioner for Monroe county.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Winter of Mason City are visiting at the home of Mr. Winter's mother, Mrs. Bertha Winter.

The Helping Hand society enjoyed a delightful picnic dinner Friday, held for Mrs. Carrie King, who is about to go to Chicago for the winter.

Rebekkahs of this district will hold a convention in Tomah on Thursday, October 21. There will be a session in the afternoon, a banquet, and an evening session.

Dr. T. J. Sheehy's father, at one time a resident of Tomah, died in Milwaukee Saturday morning. The remains will be brought to Tomah for burial.

Messrs. W. W. Warren, W. E. Bosshard, W. B. Naylor, Will McCaul, W. L. Howes, Frank Hart, Frank Burlin, Will Fletting, Fred Walter and Dr. C. L. Anderson comprised a stag party at Watertown Friday evening.

The contract for a steel ceiling and side wall for the armory has been let to Barrows & Son. This is an improvement that has been very much needed.

The contract for the brick paving on Superior avenue in the Butts block has been let and the work will be pushed through immediately.

The Arion orchestra, comprising Messrs. Stone, Lou Barnes, L. W. Hoag and Sikes, played at Wilton Friday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Johnson entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner Thursday evening for Mr. and Mrs. M. Van Cassel of Lake Geneva.

Mr. Peter Rishett died at his home in the city Thursday morning of cancer. He is survived by his wife and two children.

It is rumored that Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Tuttle of Mather are to take up their residence in Tomah again this winter.

Mrs. Fred Roscivious, living on the ridge south of town, suffered a very severe stroke Thursday morning. Latest reports are that she is unconscious and on account of her age very little hope is held out for her.

Frankly—have you ever tried a Sensible Cigarette?

Mr. and Mrs. M. Van Cassel of Lake Geneva, Wis., are visiting at the home of Mrs. Van Cassel's brother, Mr. Tom Kelly.

Mrs. Charles Shannon and son Dick have returned from a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Syverson, at Westby.

Miss Ethel Getman, who was operated on at the hospital about two weeks ago, has returned to her home much improved in health.

Mrs. John King, who is going to Chicago to spend the winter, has rented her house to Mr. Martin Fawcett and his mother from Milwaukee.

Fred S. Barrows spent Thursday in La Crosse on business.

Miss Lucy Sowle of Michigan is visiting her sister in the city.

"HOME RUN" HARRY HOOPER JUST PLAIN MAYOR AT HOME

BOYES SPRINGS, Cal., Oct. 18.—Mayor Harry Hooper's home coming, expected next week, will be about the biggest doings this town has ever seen, judging from preparations under way today. The mayor is the same Harry Hooper who busted up the Phillies' chances with two home runs in that historic last game of the recent world's series.

KILLS WIFE AND SELF

OCEAN SPRINGS, Miss., Oct. 18.—Louise Wade, prominent merchant, formerly of Detroit, shot and killed his wife here last night and then committed suicide after attempting to kill two others, his son-in-law and 14-year-old son, who witnessed the shooting. Wade had just returned from Michigan and learned his wife intended suing for divorce.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

THE UNEXPECTED GUEST

BY WAYNE CUNNINGHAM

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

It was six miles from the railway station. Maud had written; just a pleasant little hike along the shore road until you came to Turtle Isle.

"It isn't a pretty or romantic name, but it's just the shape of a turtle, and George named it. I would have called it Heart's Rest or something like that. George is really my temperamental ballast in life. Come soon, and if we're not at the cottage make yourself at home. We often run over to the village for supplies."

Kate regarded the shore road appreciatively. It was two hours before even the late fall twilight could overtake her. The foliage along the way was gorgeous in its gypsy tints of red and gold. The air blew freshly in from the Sound and the water broke on the beach in long, lazy rolls. It was all very well to talk of summer joys. The fall is really the season that called the feet of the young women from city marts, she thought, whimsically.

Three whole days to spend on a tiny island off the Connecticut shore, three days of rest and fun, with huge night fires of driftwood and marsh-mallow parties. Maud said there were quite a number of the art colony left still, so she would not be lonesome.

"You'll like them all excepting Fallows. He's perfectly hopeless when it comes to sociability. He does comics, you know, and contrarily, he's the dullest, most 'unhumorous,' shyest human you ever saw. He keeps to himself, and we're glad he does. George says he's all right among the men, but he doesn't like women. Can't even bear them near him. I wonder who hurt him, Kate?"

Kate's conscience was clear. She had met Hartley Fallows back in town at a few affairs the past year. Once he had stood next her at the preliminary reception to a dinner at the Waldorf in honor of some notable party, and she had noticed a long, curly blonde hair on his black coat. Blessed with a sense of humor, she had said very gently, "She has blond hair, hasn't she, Mr. Fallows?"

And he had turned horribly red and looked very distant and embarrassed, even while he plucked off the blond hair. But he did not cast it from him. He wound it absently around one finger and stuck it in his pocket. Such things change a man's whole life.

It was just sunset when she came to the island. She knew it at once. Any one could see that it looked exactly like a turtle, and there was a flat-bottomed boat drawn up handily on the sandy shore. She called to Maud over and over, then George, but neither appeared. Sisters and brother-in-law are among the uncertain quantities of life but they had at least left the boat.

She put her light weight Jap suit case into it, pushed it off into the water, and rowed over to the island. Deserted it was, and the little house also, but the door was hospitably ajar, and she found everything within in order. Surely it was pleasant to be the expected guest. Out in the little pantry she found the remains of some cold boiled lobster and made herself a pot of tea. Maud used good tea. With a supper tray beside her, she slipped out of the traveling suit into a short skirt and middie, dragged a steamer chair out on the porch, and sat down to enjoy herself.

It was twilight, but the only light she had was from a Chinese lantern hanging overhead handily. And the six miles began to tell on her. As the last gleam of sunset died from the sky she drowsed off restfully, curled up in the big chair.

Perhaps it was the striking of the match that awakened her. Something did, and she sat up, startled and bewildered. For the moment, somebody was moving around inside and whistling.

"Oh, George, are you home?" she called. "Is Maud there?"

Dead silence. She stood up, listening. A figure came out of the living room, the figure of a man, and she felt he was as thoroughly amazed as herself.

"I'm not George," he said. "I think there's some mistake. I am Fallows."

"But where's George, Mr. Crane and my sister?" Kate put her hand up to her cheek. "They expected me tonight and I can't find them. I—I was awfully tired and fell asleep."

"I see you did. I expect Mr. Crane is over on Turtle Island, about a quarter of a mile farther along the shore. This is my island. Just wait until I get a light and we can see."

He struck a match and lit a lamp. She saw him plainly now, tall, with reddish brown curly hair, gray eyes, and a rather boyish face, the face of the good natured freckled boy who is always in trouble at school. It was Hartley Fallows. And, oddly enough, instead of thinking about Maud and George's worry over her, she remembered it had been a blonde hair.

"I'll take you right over there," he said quickly. "I hope you made yourself comfortable."

"Very. It was a good lobster," she said forlornly, putting back her belongings into her suit case. "I'm awfully sorry. But you do make things pleasant for your unexpected guests here."

He turned and looked at her. "I say, if the trip's too much for you up there, I'll row over and send George back with Mrs. Crane to stay here with you, and we'll bunk up there."

"I'd much rather I wouldn't see so—so sort of evicted, don't you know. It would almost seem as if I had been welcome. I think it's bad luck to move so soon after you're settled, don't you?"

Laughing and yet wistful, she appealed to him wonderfully, and he made the trip alone, roused George out of bed, and sent him back with Maud, sleepy and anxious, but overjoyed to find the lost one.

It was three weeks later when they broke camp for the city. There had been a last bonfire of driftwood on Turtle Island, and Kate lingered beside it with Fallows after the others had gone up to one of Maud's chafing dish surprises. He had grown almost human, Maud said, had come to see them every day and sometimes twice, and Kate's dark eyes held a new look these days.

"Was I such a bear that first night?" he asked.

"Goldenhair should expect a bear when she comes unannounced," she answered. "Only I haven't golden hair."

"I love brown hair," he said dreamily. "Gypsy hair."

"The other was blonde, remember?" She lifted her face teasingly, yet half in earnest, and Fallows took his chance.

"It belonged to my little niece, Betty Fallows. I'll take her to see you the first day you're in town just to prove it. I had dined there that night and held her on my knee. Oh, and you have held that against me—Kate. Kate—"

Maud came to the door in the glow of light and called:

"Aren't you two ever coming up? It's all ready."

"Kate," he urged, "you do care, don't you?"

Kate laughed softly.

"I'm glad you prefer brown hair, Hartley," she said.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY SETS 440 RECORD

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—A new world's interscholastic record for the 440 yard dash—48 1-5 seconds—was made here today by Frank Sloman, a local high school student. The previous mark was 48 3-5 by Ted Meredith, the University of Pennsylvania flyer.

The fool theories a man gets in his head cause a lot of trouble when they explode.

WHAT TO DO FOR ITCHING SKINS

Eczema, ringworm and other itching, burning skin eruptions are so easily made worse by improper treatment that one has to be very careful. There is one method, however, that you need not hesitate to use, even on a baby's tender skin—that is, the resinol treatment. Resinol is the prescription of a Baltimore doctor, put up in the form of resinol ointment and resinol soap. This proved so remarkably successful that thousands of other physicians have been prescribing it constantly for 20 years. Resinol stops itching instantly, and almost always heals the eruption quickly and at little cost. Resinol ointment and resinol soap can be bought at any druggist's.

CLEARs BLOTCHY SKIN

Try resinol soap for a week. You will be surprised to see how it clears and freshens your complexion, even in that short time. Used for the shampoo, it removes dandruff and keeps the hair live, rich and lustrous. This is because it contains the soothing, healing resinol medication.

AFTER YOU, ALPHONSE

It is not without a chastened disclaimer that we accept our contemporary's gracious acknowledgment of the beat for which we are indebted to a prematurely optimistic and not too cautious promoter. And we shall not neglect the Gaston for their Alphonse. In all humility we confer upon them the crown of first announcing the death of the cat-livered General Villa; and our tears mingle with their own that an unfeeling president neglected to legitimize that still-born hymeneal extra that grew so joyously and died so ignominiously last week.

BACK TO NERO'S DAY

Probably the explanation of the atavistic holiday enjoyed in Jackson County, Illinois, at the execution of Joe DeBerry, murderer, is simply that DeBerry was a negro. Murphysboro is in the toe of Illinois, a hundred miles south of St. Louis. It is sunk in the southern tradition that holds the black skin a badge declaring the spirit within something less than human, or at least of a humanity which has no claims a superior race is bound to admit. But it is a shock to find, in the state that gave the nation its pilot during the great war that liberated the negroes, a community where ten thousand persons will struggle to feast callous souls on the dying agonies of a wretched black criminal.

Let us find what pride we can in the reflection that Murphysboro does not typify a national trait, for truly, we were then not so far from pagan Rome's gory circus days, and there would be ground to assert that the bloody mobs which shrieked about the French guillotine, or our own shamefully recalled witch-burners, stood upon higher ground than we. They had a mask of principle over their savagery, at least.

Illinois press and pulpit joined in the chorus which recently denounced Georgia barbarism in the disgraceful Frank lynching. One great Chicago paper may be said to have led the attack upon the state for permitting such degradation of justice. But what manner of civilization is that in which an officer of government may invite 2,000 brutal acquaintances to the degrading spectacle of a degenerate's execution?

A CORSET FOR THE TANGO

The fox-trot has been standardized, and at a recent dancing masters' convention one of the chief business was a discussion of ways and means for putting dancing on a uniform basis which could be taught by all alike. The information carries some surprise for those of us who recall the ardor with which all the civilized world, a year or so ago, laid hold of the variegated, go-as-you-please dances which relegated the waltz and the two step to the neglected company of the quadrille and minuet. It is recalled that the devotees of the dance were vociferous in all the newspapers with their explanations that the "new dances" fulfilled a long felt want just because of the endless variations they offered. It was a new kind of "self-expression," we read. The two step and waltz were too stereotyped, monotonous.

Thus conservatism captures the tango; that wild, unexpected phenomenon that shocked the elders not so many months ago. The tumult and the shouting, the turbulent defense and attack—do they not seem out of proportion with the importance of the matter involved when they die in a circle of dancing masters fitting a corset to the untrammeled hoyden of their erstwhile worship?

And the world—bored old lady whose children are forever finding something in the attic and fervently proclaiming it new and wonderful—yawns and looks back to the days when shingled Puritans rolled horror-stricken eyes upward at the immoral minuet. The search for "new dances" and displeasure with the old recall to her the days whose spirit Thomas Haynes Bayly reflected in "Quadrille a la Mode."

"O give me new figures! I can't go on dancing. The same that were taught me ten seasons ago; The schoolmaster over the land is advancing. Then why is the master of dancing so slow? It is such a bore to be always caught tripping. In dull uniformity year after year. Invent something new and you'll get me a skipping; I want a new figure to dance with my dear!"

"Ho hum!" says the old lady. "And when they got their new figure what a commotion they did raise, to be sure, over the waltz and . . . hands promiscuously applied. Round the slight waist, or down the glowing side."

CHICAGO DRINKERS GLUM WHEN OASIS GETS SUNDAY LID

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Gloom, large gobs of it, floated over the Sunday "wet" contingent here today. Niles, a hamlet nearby, usually so wet that a dry petition would be drowned out, has barred the Sunday saloon.

When Chicago went dry last Sunday, hundreds of celebrants of personal liberty went to Niles to quench their thirsts. Some of them became too enthusiastic. The saloonkeepers asked for protection. "Betcherlife," said the village president, "I'll protect you from the drunks. Hereafter you close your bars on the Sabbath."

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Not Yet, But Soon

Now does the young ambitious turk
Fill up on golden corn;
His menus are the finest that
He's known since he was born.
He struts about in conscious pride
And glories in his weight,
Not knowing he's the victim of
A sad and cruel fate.

The frost is on the pumpkin now,
As Whitcomb Riley sang,
The apple cider soon will take
A most delicious tang.
The leaflets turn from green to gold
And float upon the breeze,
As gentle zephyrs from the north
Are frisking through the trees.

Dad's lighted up the coal stove and
Has started in to kick;
He says that everything's so high
It really makes him sick.
Ma's pickin' out a winter suit,
The best that she can buy;
And judging by the family jar,
Thanksgiving time is nigh.

One on the Nurse

After the accident he was taken to a hospital blinded. The surgeons worked long and hard, and bandages were at last placed in position. His nurse had the softest, sweetest voice in the world, and the softest, coolest touch. She also read to him. He knew that she was uncommonly pretty. When the bandages were removed his sight still was very dim, but gradually his vision grew stronger. One morning the doctor came in cheerily. "Well, John, are the eyes still improving?" he asked. "They are that," "Seeing better every day? Can you see your nurse?" "Sure I can. She gets plainer and plainer every time."

A Hint Only

For two weary hours the small baby had howled and the other occupants of the crowded railway coach were getting tired of it. "Oh, dear!" moaned the young mother, distracted. "I really don't know what to do with this child." A sudden gleam of hope shone in the eyes of the crusty old bachelor in the opposite corner. "Shall I open the window for you, madam?" he suggested politely.

Afraid of Thirteen

"This is the twelfth time I've called about this bill," began the collector. "I hope you won't call again," said the debtor. "I'm a bit superstitious about the number thirteen, and I'm afraid something might happen to one or the other of us."

Waiting for Chance

"Why do you go out rowing with that man?" He thinks it's funny to rock the boat." "I've heard so," replied the athletic girl. "I took a dislike to him the first time I saw him, and I'm just dying for an excuse to hit him over the head with an oar."

A LA CROSSE INTERVIEW

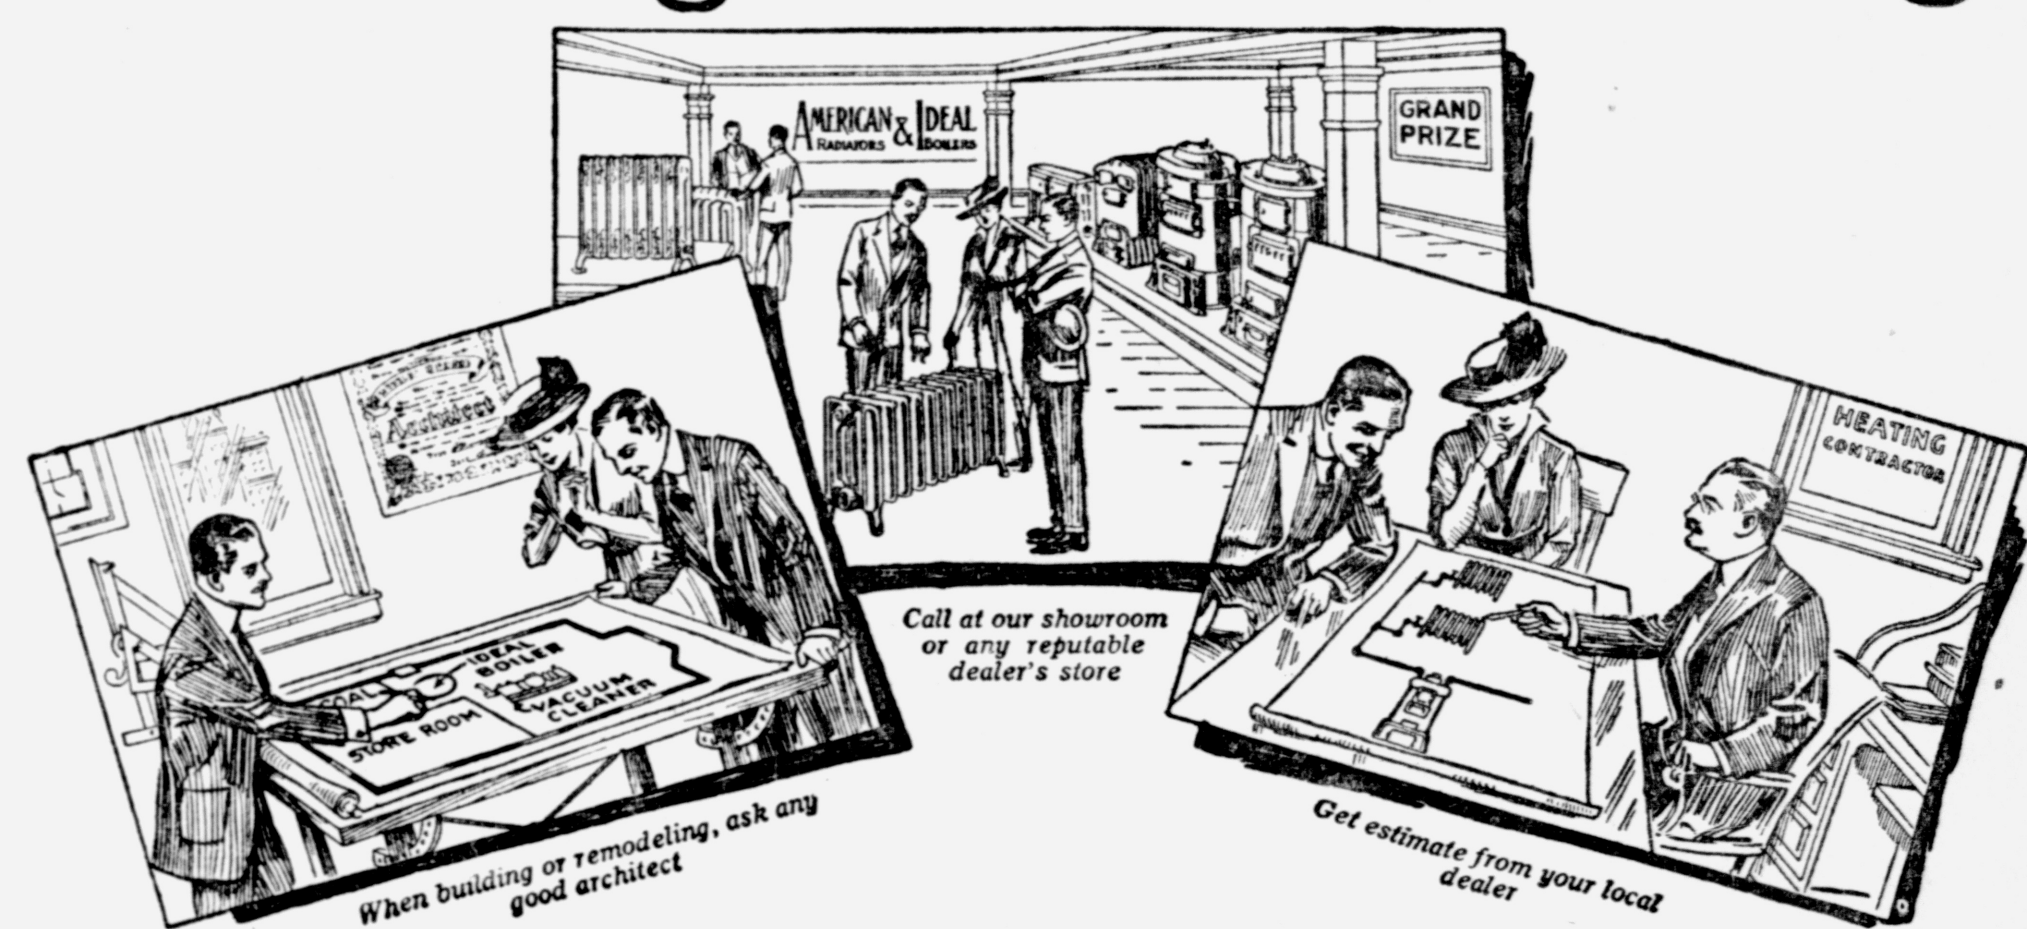

Mr. Miller Tells His Experience.

The following brief account of an interview with a La Crosse man several years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen.

C. J. Miller, 607 N. Tenth St., La Crosse, says: "I had kidney complaint for several years and it was deep-rooted. I had a persistent, dull ache through my back that made me as weak as a child. My whole body ached. I had rheumatic pains. I got Doan's Kidney Pills and they brought me fine relief, in fact, they gave better results than any other kidney medicine I had ever tried. I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a fine medicine for weak kidneys. I have recommended them before and I am glad to say that the benefit they brought me has lasted."

How to get ideal heating!

First: Follow your architect's advice to have radiator heating. Appropriate the money for this before you start your plans. Second: Examine the shapes and patterns of AMERICAN Radiators and IDEAL Boilers in our showrooms, or see them as illustrated in our catalogs. Third: Tell your heating contractor to furnish and install

AMERICAN & IDEAL RADIATORS & BOILERS

A No. 4-22-W IDEAL Boiler and 400 ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $150, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent fitter. This did not include costs of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which vary according to climatic and other conditions.

The most important phrase in your building specifications is: "To be heated with an IDEAL Boiler and AMERICAN Radiators." When this is done, it settles for all time the question of comfort and economy in your home, for these outfits last for generations; never need repair, and can be operated by a child.

Millions of dollars have been saved to property-owners by IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators in reducing bills for heating all kinds of buildings. Any local fuel including cheapest grades of soft coal, screenings, pea, buckwheat, coke, lignite, oil, gas, wood, etc., can be used with highest results.

Country or city houses, old or new, can be easily outfitted and all dealers everywhere know how to put in IDEAL-AMERICAN heating. You will be surprised at the reasonable first cost, and bear in mind the fuel saving, cleanliness, and absence of labor that you will enjoy as long as your building lasts.

Send at once for our booklet "Ideal Heating" whether you are intending to remodel or build now or later. Call at any of our showrooms, you will not be pressed to purchase and you will gather a fund of heating information which will be invaluable. Act NOW!

An unfailing, stationary Vacuum Cleaner—in sizes now at $150 up!

You should know about our ARCO WAND Vacuum Cleaner, for dustless, complete cleaning of rooms, furnishings, etc. Sits in basement or side room and cleans through iron suction pipe running to each floor. Easily put in OLD buildings. Fully GUARANTEED. Last as long as the building—like radiator heating. Send for catalog.

Laying it to Chickens

Uncle John was comfortably lighting his pipe in the living room one evening when Aunt Maria glanced up from her knitting. "John," she remarked, "do you know the next Sunday will be the twenty-fifth anniversary of our wedding?"

"You don't say so, Maria," responded Uncle John, pulling vigorously on his corn cob pipe. "What about it?"

"Nothing," answered Aunt Maria,

"only I thought maybe we ought to kill them two Rhode Island Red chickens."
"But, Maria," demanded Uncle John, "how can you blame them two Rhode Island Red chickens for what happened twenty-five years ago?"

They Blame Teacher

In an East Side school in New York the teacher was nearing the class in arithmetic.
"I went to a store," she said, "and paid $5 for a pair of shoes, $2 for a pair of gloves, $1.50 for a belt, and 10 cents for hairpins. I gave the clerk a $10 bill. Now, how much change did I receive. Can you tell me, Ike?"

Ike looked at her in astonishment.
"Vy, teacher!" he exclaimed, "for vy didn't you count your change?"

Speaking in Auto Terms

He was wandering aimlessly around in a department store, when the floor walker approached him.
"Looking for something?" he asked.

"Yeg, my wife," replied the man. "Describe her."
"Well, she's a sort of a limousine with heavy tread and usually runs on low."

PART OF CREW LANDED

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 18.—The five men rescued from the German torpedo boat, which a ferryboat sank in collision between Trelleborg, Sweden, and the German coast Friday night, have been landed and proved to be the only ones saved out of a crew of 45. It was learned definitely today. The collision was attributed to the fact that both boats, being German craft, were running without lights to escape British submarines.

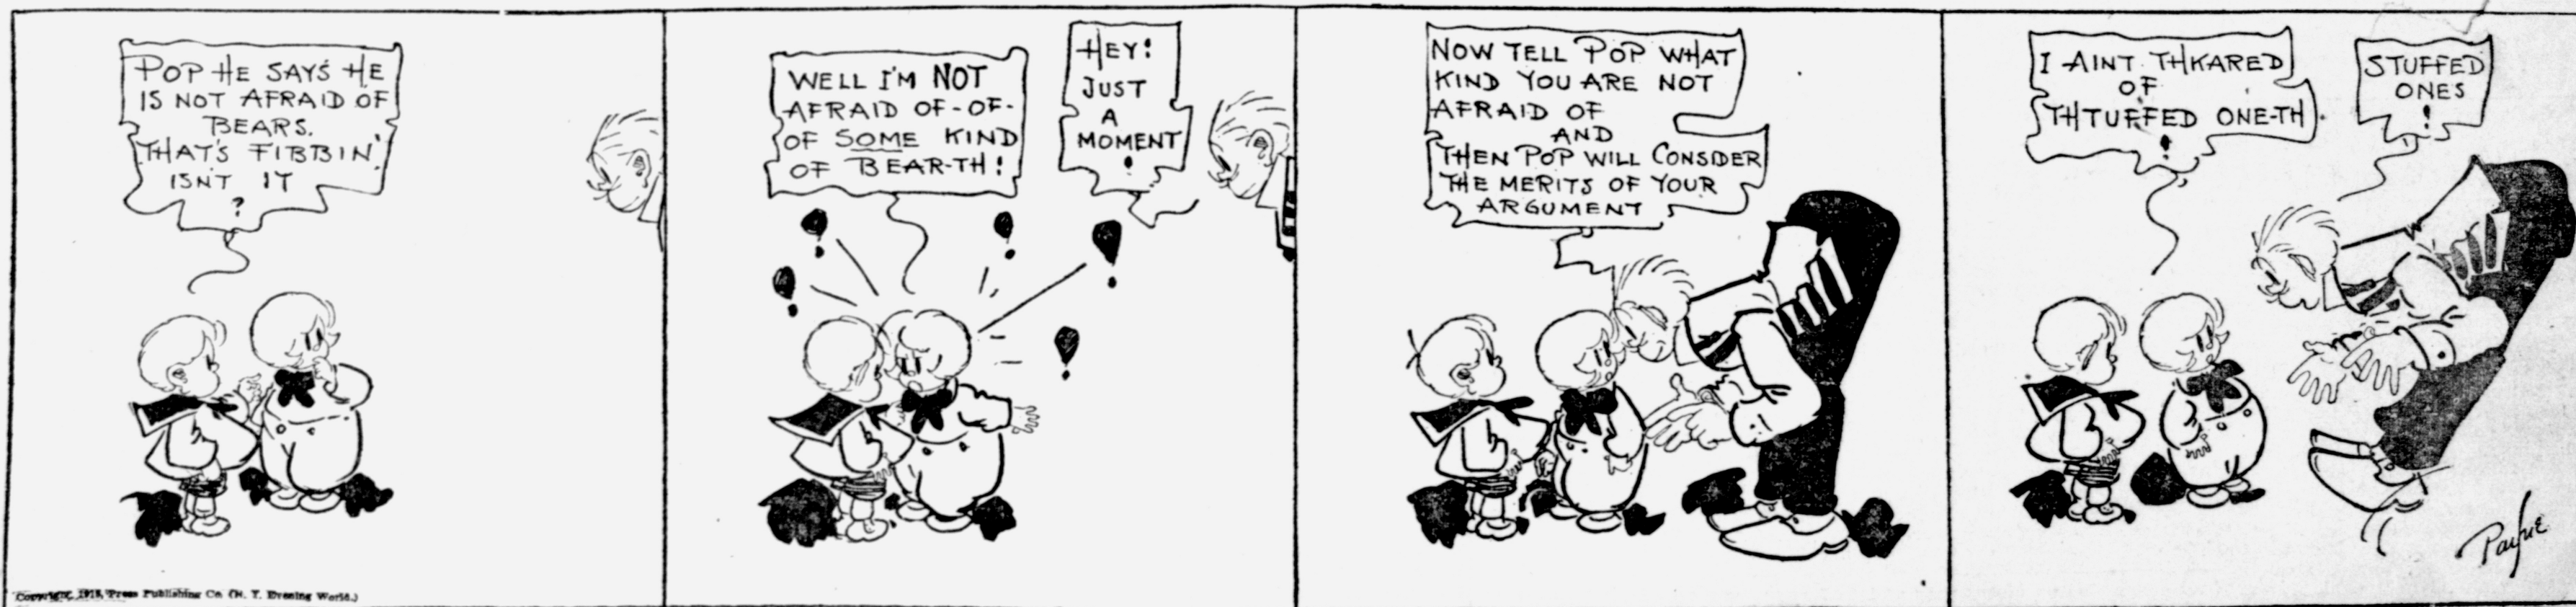

The faster the man the easier it is for trouble to overtake him.

HAY VALUED AT $4,000 BURNS ON OLD GODDARD FARM

Hundred and Twenty-Tons of High Grade Fodder Still Smoldering; the Fire Started Early Sunday

FIRE'S ORIGIN IS NOT KNOWN

Fire Department Able to Get Only One Stream on Blaze Through Hose 1,400 Feet Long

Four thousand dollars worth of hay which made a fierce blaze when haybarn No. 2 on the old Goddard farm, east of Grand Crossing, took fire from an unknown cause early Sunday morning, was still smoldering at noon today. The barn was completely destroyed. The loss is only about half covered by insurance. H. S. Burroughs, owner of the farm, said today.

The exact cause of the fire remains a mystery. The barn was kept securely locked. The theory of falling sparks from a passing switch engine of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad in the yards at Grand Crossing is not well supported because the tracks of the company are more than a block from the barn. A circumstance, however, tending to support the belief that sparks ignited the structure is that fire originated in the west end of the barn roof, nearest the tracks.

Railroaders Give Alarm The fire was discovered shortly after 2 o'clock Sunday morning by the Burlington night crew under N. J. Brodt, night yardmaster. They notified C. G. Helsapple, caretaker of the farm, after sending in the alarm.

Fire company No. 4 responded to the call. But one line of hose could be stretched to the burning barn, from a hydrant at the coal chutes in the Burlington yards. The hose was 1,400 feet long and had to be laid across the Burlington tracks. The water supply was unavailable to the firemen for almost half an hour owing to faulty condition of the hydrant, and the necessity of placing the hose under the rails in order to permit trains to pass.

The barn contained more than 120 tons of dry hay, ready for market after being stored in the shed for several months. Within a few minutes after the discovery of the fire, the entire barn was a mass of flame, lighting up the sky for a radius of a mile. The fire was still burning this morning, the flames being confined to a stack of hay twenty feet in height, which fell to the basement of the barn when the floor burned through. Farm machinery was stored in the basement of the building and was damaged to the extent of several hundreds of dollars.

Rain Saves No. 1 Rain which began to fall shortly before 4 o'clock in the morning aided materially in preventing barn No. 1, which stood between the burned building and the dwelling house of Mr. Helsapple, from catching fire from flying sparks.

The barn was one of six on the farm used for the housing of the large annual hay crop.

KAZAN

By James Oliver Curwood
Author of The Danger Trail, The Honor of The Big Snows, Philip Steele, Etc.
Copyright 1914, The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

He read the paper aloud to the men at Fond du Lac, and every available man was detailed to spread the warning throughout the post's territory. There was a quick harnessing of dogs, and on each sledge that went out was a roll of red cotton cloth—rolls that were ominous of death, lurid signals of pestilence and horror, whose touch sent shuddering chills through the men who were about to scatter them among the forest people. Kazan and Gray Wolf struck the trail of one of these sledges on the Gray Beaver, and followed it for half a mile. The next day, farther to the west, they struck another, and on the fourth day still a third. The last trail was fresh, and Gray Wolf drew back from it as if stung, her fangs snarling. On the wind there came to them the pungent odor of smoke. They cut at right angles to the trail, Gray Wolf leaping clear of the marks in the snow, and climbing to the cap of a ridge. To windward of them, and down in the plain, a cabin was burning. A team of huskies and a man were disappearing in the spruce forest. Deep down in his throat Kazan gave a rumbling whine. Gray Wolf stood as rigid as a rock. In the cabin a plague-dead man was burning. It was the law of the North. And the mystery of the funeral pyre came again to Kazan and Gray Wolf. This time they did not howl, but slunk down into the farther plain, and did not stop that day until they had buried themselves deep in a dry and sheltered swamp ten miles to the north.

After this they followed the days and weeks which marked the winter of nineteen hundred and ten as one of the most terrible in all the history of the Northland—a single month in which wild life as well as human hung in the balance, and when cold, starvation and plague wrote a chapter in the lives of the forest people which will not be forgotten for generations to come.

In the swamp Kazan and Gray Wolf found a home under a windfall. It was a small comfortable nest, shut in entirely from the snow and wind. Gray Wolf took possession of it immediately. She flattened herself out on her belly, and panted to show Kazan her contentment and satisfaction. Nature again kept Kazan close at her side. A vision came to him, unreal and dream-like, of that wonderful night under the stars—ages and ages ago, it seemed—when he had fought the leader of the wolf-pack, and young Gray Wolf had crept to his side after his victory and had given herself to him for mate. But this mating season there was no running after the doe or the caribou, or mingling with the wild pack. They lived chiefly on rabbit and spruce partridge, because of Gray Wolf's blindness. Kazan could hunt those alone. The hair had now grown over Gray Wolf's sightless eyes. She had ceased to grieve, to rub her eyes with her paws, to whine for the sunlight, the golden moon and the stars. Slowly she began to forget that she had ever seen those things. She could now run more swiftly at Kazan's flank. Scent and hearing had become wonderfully keen. She could wind a caribou two miles distant, and the presence of man she could pick up at an even greater distance. On a still night she had heard the splash of a trout half a mile away. And as these two things—scent and hearing—became more and more developed in her, those same senses became less active in Kazan.

He began to depend upon Gray Wolf. She would point out the hiding-place of a partridge fifty yards from their trail. In their hunts she became the leader—until game was found. And as Kazan learned to trust to her in the hunt, so he began just as instinctively to heed her warnings. If Gray Wolf reasoned, it was to the effect that without Kazan she would die. She had tried hard now and then to catch a partridge, or a rabbit, but she had always failed. Kazan meant life to her. And—if she reasoned—it was to make herself indispensable to her mate. Blindness had made her different than she would otherwise have been. Again nature promised motherhood to her. But she did not—as she would have done in the open, and with sight—hold more and more aloof from Kazan as the days passed. It was her habit, spring, summer and winter, to snuggle close to Kazan and lie with her beautiful head resting on his neck or back. If Kazan snarled at her she did not snap back, but slunk down as though struck a blow. With her warm tongue she would lick away the ice that froze to the long hair between Kazan's toes. For days after he had run a siver in his paw she nursed his foot. Blindness had made Kazan absolutely necessary to her existence—and now, in a different way, she became more and more necessary to Kazan. They were happy in their swamp home. There was plenty of small game about them, and it was warm under the windfall. Rarely did they go beyond the limits of the swamp to hunt. Out on the more distant plains and the barren ridges they occasionally heard the cry of the wolf-pack on the trail of meat, but it no longer thrilled them with a desire to join in the chase.

One day they struck farther than usual to the west. They left the swamp, crossed a plain over which a fire had swept the preceding year, climbed a ridge, and descended into a second plain. At the bottom Gray Wolf stopped and sniffed the air. At these times Kazan always watched her, waiting eagerly and nervously if the scent was too faint for him to

Special Programs FOR EDISON WEEK October 18th to 23rd

You are invited to attend our special Edison Week Concerts of the New Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph. Hear these choice programs from the great library of Edison Records.

The whole country is celebrating Mr. Edison's achievements this week. A complete triumph in just 10 months over the handicaps of the greatest fire in the history of New Jersey.

Come and hear the New Edison—one of the master inventor's greatest triumphs. The perfected result of four years' continuous research.

The new EDISON DIAMOND DISC PHONOGRAPH

Mr. Edison, through the diamond stylus, has finally made of the phonograph a real musical instrument. At last, all that music lovers have hoped for in a phonograph. It reproduces the music of the artist with absolute fidelity. No metallic sound—no "talking machine" tone. As Mr. Edison himself has said, "Real Music at Last."

HEAR THESE Concerts

Examine these programs. Note the selections from the very best in the world of music. The greatest artists. Come in and hear these programs any day—or every day. No charge for seats. We want every one to hear and judge Mr. Edison's great musical triumph.

been there for a long time. But from the tepee had come the man-smell. With legs rigid and his spine quivering Kazan approached the opening to the tepee. He looked in. In the middle of the tepee, lying on the charred embers of a fire, lay a ragged blanket—and in the blanket was wrapped the body of a little Indian child. Kazan could see the tiny moccasined feet. But so long had death been there that he could scarcely smell the presence of it. He drew back, and saw Gray Wolf cautiously nosing about a long and peculiarly shaped hummock in the snow. She had traveled about it three times, but never approaching nearer than a man could have reached with a rifle barrel. At the end of her third circle she sat down on her haunches, and Kazan went close to the hummock and sniffed. Under that bulge in the snow, as well as in the tepee, there was death. They slunk away, their ears flattened and their tails drooping until they trailed the snow, and did not stop until they reached their swamp home. Even there Gray Wolf still sniffed the horror of the plague, and her muscles twitched and shivered as she lay close at Kazan's side.

Close River Freight Contracts

That there will be a regular barge line service on the Mississippi river next summer, by the Bernhard Barge line, has become almost a certainty, with the announcement that contracts have been closed between the navigation company and a mercantile firm at St. Paul. The freight rate secured by the firm is said to be considerably lower than the rail rate. But one barge will be started giving monthly service which will be increased as the business grows. The first of the big steel barges was just recently launched and will be sent up river as far as Quincy, Ill.
The lateness of the season prevents a longer trip.

WOMAN WEAK, RUN-DOWN

Finds Health in a Simple Tonic
People in La Crosse will begin to believe us when we say that our delicious Vinol is a wonderful tonic and strength creator.

Here is another case where it has proved its wonderful power to overcome weak, run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions.

"I was run-down, nervous, and could not do my work without being entirely exhausted, and would often faint without any apparent cause.
The doctor said I was anaemic but failed to help me. My husband brought home a bottle of Vinol and I began to improve after taking one bottle, and after taking four bottles it has built me up so I can do all my housework without help. I recommended Vinol to a neighbor, who says her doctor approves of it and said 'Vinol is a wonderfully good tonic.'" Mrs. Bessie Hering,
West Philadelphia, Pa.

We recommend Vinol to our customers as the greatest strength creator we know—due to the extractive medicinal elements of fresh cod livers, without oil combined with pep-tone of iron and beef peptone, all dissolved in a pure medicinal wine.

Pimples and Skin Eruptions Danger Signs of Bad Blood

It May Mean Eczema, Scrofula—The
First Sign of Inherited Blood Disease

Pimples, scaly itching skin, rashes, burning sensations and Scrofula denote with unfailing certainty a debilitated, weakened and impure state of the blood. The trouble may have been in your blood from birth, but no matter how you were infected, you must treat it through the blood. It is a blood disease. You must use S. S. S. the standard blood tonic for 50 years, if you expect certain relief. For purifying the system, nothing is equal to it. The action of S. S. S. is to cleanse the blood. It soaks through the system direct to the seat of the trouble—acting as an antidote to neutralize the blood poisons. It revitalizes the red blood corpuscles, increases the flow so that the blood can properly perform its physical work. The dull sluggish feeling leaves you—the complexion clears up. Even long standing cases respond promptly. But you must take S. S. S. Drugs and substitutes won't do. Get S. S. S. from your druggist. If you are a special case and you need expert advice, write to S. S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns
Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

THIS WEEK "EDISON WEEK," "EDISON DAY" OCTOBER 21

The Edison electric light people are celebrating October 21 as Edison day in commemoration of Edison's completion of his invention of the incandescent lamp. The Edison phonograph jobbers and dealers of the United States and Canada are observing all of this week as Edison week in celebration of the complete recovery of Thomas A. Edison from the big fire that visited his Orange, N. J., factory, in December last. The Bergh Piano company of this city has arranged for a number of demonstrations of Edison's new invention for recreating music, and also has entered an Edison diamond disc phonograph window display in the international window display contest that is being conducted by the Edison Disc Jobbers' association.

Mr. Edison's recovery from the disastrous fire of last December is little short of marvelous. He made the reconstruction of his factory the occasion for largely increasing his manufacturing capacity. His production of phonograph records is now over three times what it was before the fire.

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take
Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion dull—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a pure vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

If you want a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy and childlike days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

K. C. BANQUET IS ATTENDED BY 500 KNIGHTS AND LADIES

knights to build a large lodge home here, and he intimated that the plans were nearer realization than ever before.

"Our Order in Wisconsin," was an address given by Joseph Boschert, past grand knight.

Mr. Boschert objected strenuously to the ten minute limit to which the program committee held the speakers, and which Father Murphy enforced.

"It would certainly be a difficult task to keep my subject within the time limit," he said, "for it is a subject which could be given hours."

Organized in 1902

"The first council in the state of Wisconsin was organized at West Superior in 1902. Shortly after that there were but eight councils in Wisconsin. The state now has fifty councils with a membership of 10,000 Knights of Columbus."

Mr. Boschert spoke briefly of some of the accomplishments of the order in Wisconsin, among which are the erection of a chapel for the university students at Madison and assistance given to a band of Christianized Indians whose chapel was destroyed by fire.

One of the most eloquent addresses of the evening was delivered by John Kulig of Independence, Wis., who spoke upon "America."

His part on the program was followed by Rev. Thomas F. Doyle of Seneca, speaking on "The Knight and His Church." Rev. Doyle cautioned the lodgesmen that they would be held as examples, and he pleaded for loyalty to that body, maintaining that loyalty to the church was only loyalty to the knights' own order.

The principal address of the evening was delivered by Walter M. Burke, of Kenosha, state advocate of the Knights of Columbus and head of the degree team which came here. Mr. Burke was scheduled to speak upon "Enthusiasm." His address came close to the hearts of his listeners and was appreciated.

None of the speakers at the banquet for a minute went outside of the witty atmosphere created by Father Murphy. His remarks, which began with the closing number of the orchestra program, banished the possibility of drowsiness creeping into the program.

Bishop Celebrates Mass

The activities of the knights began yesterday morning with pontifical high mass at St. Joseph's cathedral, celebrated by Bishop James Schwegel. Rev. Father Pape, the new pastor of the cathedral, delivered the morning sermon in English. The edifice was well filled, the service being attended by the local and visiting knights and new members of the order in a body at 10:15 o'clock.

The second and third degrees of the order of Knights of Columbus were conferred upon the class of sixty at St. Joseph's parish hall yesterday afternoon. The work consumed a lengthy period and was hardly finished when the banquet was ready.

SHE WOULD DIVORCE MAN WHO BURNED ALL THE PAPERS

Mrs. Josephine Bendikson could stand a little rough treatment from her husband, Bernhard Bendikson, but when he burned newspapers when he finished reading them and would allow her to have none about the house which she herself purchased, she filed suit in circuit court here. Mrs. Bendikson alleged her husband made her work in the field, doing manual labor with him.

BENEZET LAMBASTS JUNKERS

War Parties in All European Countries Are Denounced by Superintendent of Schools

Neutral discussion of economic conditions in Europe, scheduled at the Open Forum's session yesterday afternoon in the Universalist church, struck a snag when Adolph Candrian, editor of the Nordstern, seized the occasion to present the German side of the war. Over repeated suggestions from President Monceau Dunn that he discuss economic and industrial progress in Germany and even more pointed warnings that he was "getting off the subject," the Journalist held on his way, justifying the fatherland in the war, denying Belgian atrocities, and presenting the ideal of the German-Americans, that the "United States must not be English." He said that this was a war between efficiency and inefficiency.

Benezet Scores Junkers

The session was not to have been a discussion of the war, except as it affects economic progress in Europe, but after Mr. Candrian's impassioned defense of the Germans, L. P. Benezet, superintendent of schools, laid about him strenuously in a denunciation of both English and German junkers. He arraigned all the ruling militarist parties of Europe, and their selfish motives.

Professor Sherwood of the state normal school spoke, as did President Dunn of the Forum, who deplored the fact that the United States was far in the rear of the European countries in the matter of economic advancement. "We should pattern after these countries," he said, "to increase our standards of economic progress."

The Socialist Solution

Sam Johnson, prominent local socialist, characterized as "foolish" the tendency of the government to secure a foreign market, and attacked the generally accepted statement that this country is enjoying prosperity. "We're poor," he said, "let's forget the idea of a foreign market, and manufacture for our own consumption. If we find that we have more goods on our hands than we can use, shut down and take a vacation. Stop the sale of goods and munitions to Europe; it is enriching only a few of the Americans, and impoverishing the rest."

mission in New York, where I was converted," he explained.

This morning the mission men opened the day with a devotional service at the Presbyterian church, led by Rev. John H. Klaus of the German Methodist church. From 10:30 until noon they discussed problems of their work.

At 2:30 this afternoon, Christopher Half-Lucky Baldwin spoke of his experience in working among men in jails, and at 4 o'clock the superintendents were taken for an automobile ride. Tonight "Lucky Baldwin" will give his testimony.

At the meeting last night the superintendents were welcomed by C. F. Emery, president of the board of directors of the Rescue Mission. His words were answered by C. M. Stocking of Minneapolis, who presided over the meeting.

CLEVER WOMEN

Use gasoline to dry clean everything at home and save $5 in an hour.

You will never again pay enormous prices for dry cleaning after trying this. Any woman can clean and renew the appearance of yokes, ribbons, satins, laces, silks, furs, shirts, waists, Swiss, lawn, organdie and chiffon dresses, kid gloves and shoes, neckties, children's clothes, suits, caps, woolen garments, fancy vests, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline, where it quickly dissolves. Then put in the goods to be cleaned. After a little rubbing out they come looking bright and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requiring no pressing.

You would have to pay $5 at a dry cleaning establishment for the cleaning which can be done at home as easily as laundering. Any grocery or garage will supply the gasoline and your druggist will sell you two ounces of solvite which is simply a gasoline soap, then a large dishpan or wash boiler completes your dry cleaning outfit.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 18.—Eliz who crossed the ice with the hounds at her heels along in the civil war days, slipped no more than Eliza Blue, who three times in two days escaped Wisconsin authorities. Here is the week end program of Milwaukee's incorrigible colored lady, sentenced to serve three years instate's prison Saturday.

Escaped through a window, heading in the general direction of Minnesota.

Arrested as she left the train at Sheboygan, Wis., Saturday night; slipped from officers and hid in a coal bin. As anthracite and Eliza's complexion have much in common, the authorities could not find her.

Arrested at Plymouth, Wis., Sunday afternoon and escaped a third time.

Captured in Plymouth Sunday night and returned to Milwaukee today.

And the party isn't over yet, according to Eliza. That's why they are keeping an extra guard for her benefit at the jail.

Brady Says Women Flaunt Creator In Seeking Vote

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady was due to receive some warm retorts today, having told the congregation of St. Stephen's Episcopal church that woman's desire to vote was an insult to man and to God.

"It is an insult to man because it is an effort to usurp duties imposed on man in the scheme of creation," said Rev. Brady, "and it is an insult to God because it is an effort to enter a sphere for which the Creator did not intend woman."

"Woman is a creature of impulse, man of judgment. This is the mental basis of the sexes. History proves it. We laugh at the nose ring, the flattened forehead, the tattooed cheek, the feathered head of the savage. No savage woman ever wore a corset, a high heeled shoe, or stuck on her head the atrocities for the concoction of which you pay great prices. Can you imagine Venus so adorned? Woman must break these shackles before she should vote."

GERMANS TRY AT BELGIANS' SECTION ON WESTERN FRONT

Heavy Cannonading Is Terrific on Line Between Dixmude and Ypres

PARIS, Oct. 18.—The Germans are trying to break the Belgians' section of the western war front, advances from the fighting zone said today. Between Dixmude and Ypres their bombardment was reported to have been terrific for two nights past. The Belgians were declared to be holding their positions and to have repulsed several infantry rushes, though it was admitted they had lost heavily.

It was believed much damage was done by the French aerial bombardment of Traves, undertaken in retaliation for the latest German Zeppelin raid on London.

ACTOR INJURED IN MAKING THIS FILM

During the filming of one of the thrilling scenes in "The Regeneration," Rockcliffe Fellowes, the leading man in the cast, had one of his hands cut by broken glass. In this scene Fellowes has tracked "Skinny the Rat" to his little hall bed room and in his hurry to catch him is supposed to jump through a glass covered skylight. In order to get the effect, Assistant Director O'Brien sat upon a scantling and just as Mr. Fellowes jumped or rather swung from another scantling broke a large pane of glass with a hammer.

At the word of command from Director Walsh, Mr. Fellowes started to swim through the roof and into the room. At the same instant Mr. O'Brien broke the large pane of glass with his hammer. Several pieces flew over on the scantling from which Mr. Fellowes was swinging and a piece got under his hand with the result that he received a severe cut on his right hand.

Mr. Fellowes is the co-star with Miss Anna Q. Nilsson in the Fox production which is at the Majestic for today and Tuesday.

er his progress too slow for safety.

Van Mackensen's line, at latest accounts, extended from Belgrade eastward to Golubatz, about a fifty mile front. It was repulsing the Serbs, bit by bit, but its progress has been very slow.

The Bulgarians were on the offensive in places, all along the Serbian eastern frontier and across it, here and there, especially in the extreme northeast, southward to the civility of Strumitza, where the allies had repulsed them.

Much of the fighting is in the mountains, the weather has turned very bad and the troops suffer intensely. Losses are heavy everywhere.

Austrians Claim Railroad Cut

PARIS, Oct. 18.—Bulgarians have penetrated Serbian Macedonia and cut the Salonika-Nish railroad, the Austrian press asserts, it was stated in Geneva dispatches received here today, confirming reports from Salonika.

Despite Strumitza's capture from the Bulgarians, no pretense was made here today that the allies are yet in sufficient force in the near east to maintain continued efforts to advance the Serbians against their Austrian, German and Bulgarian enemies.

More Troops Landed

ROME, Oct. 18.—The allies landed troops at Enos today, according to the Messagero and seized the neighboring Dedeagatch railroad.

Enos is on the Gulf of Zeros, in Turkish territory, opposite the Gallipoli peninsula and the railroad referred to would be needed for operations in Turkey or Bulgaria.

Its southern terminus, Dedeagatch, has been Bulgarian since the first Balkan war.

DANIELS CONFIDENT OF CONGRESSIONAL SANCTION TO PLAN

Preparedness Program Will Not Receive More Than Average Opposition
He Avers

ALL TYPES OF MACHINES STUDIED

Department Thinks Self-
Guiding Aeroplane Will Be Perfected for Use
in Short Time

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Confidence that congress will "substantially approve" the preparedness program of the navy was expressed today by Secretary Daniels. He said he has not received protests against the program from any of the "little navy" congressmen.

That opposition would be encountered from the extreme pacifists in congress, Daniels admitted was probable. He declared, however, the "reasonable" five year program would commend itself to many former little navy advocates.

Daniels said he expected demands from some congressmen to expedite the navy's enlargement by adopting a two or three year increase plan instead of five years.

Utility of battleships, submarines and heavier-than-air machines in future world wars will be the subject of a separate report to congress, distinct from the national defense program, by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, it was learned today.

Data Compiled

Regarding all types of submarines, dreadnaughts, aeroplanes, dirigibles and balloons from American embassy attaches and naval observers in Europe is being compiled by Daniels for the special report.

Relative efficiency of three submarine and battleship and, for scouting purposes, the aeroplane and dirigible, will be exhaustively treated in the navy head's report.

If the United States army and navy fall behind other nations in aeronautical equipment, it will not be for lack of knowledge. The national advisory committee for aeronautics has prepared a report to be submitted to President Wilson directly after the annual meeting Thursday which will contain all the information available on military aircraft developments abroad and some remarkable developments which have been going on in this country.

One of the latter is an aeroplane that practically sails itself. About all the aviator has to do is to turn the crank and steer. This has been developed by several inventors in America.

The report will be made public by the president.

The board was brought into existence by the last congress. It is made up of military, naval, and scientific men. They have been collecting and systematizing all available information on aeronautics and from their report the army and navy programs will be worked out.

Army Posts to Stay

Secretary Garrison announced today that the new army program calls for the abandonment of none of the existing army posts.

Secretary Garrison feels he will need all existing posts for training purposes if the war department is given the army increase recommended. His statement disposed of rumors concerning several isolated posts.

No new army post or arsenal construction is contemplated in the army program, it was also learned today.

CITY CHAMPIONSHIP RESTS ON THE STANDARD OF THE CLOTHIERS WHEN THEY DEFEAT NELSONS ON SUNDAY

FITZKI HURLS IN BOTH GAMES AND WINS SECOND TILT

Nelsons Succumb to Attack in Eighth Frame of Last Game After Winning
First Mix

The La Crosse Clothiers are champions of La Crosse. They became such yesterday when they defeated the Nelson Clothing company in the second game of a double header at league park. The Clothiers won from the Nelsons in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader two weeks ago, the second game of which was stopped by rain at the beginning of the fifth inning with the score 2 to 0 in favor of the Nelsons.

Fitzki proved the iron man of the Clothiers' aggregation. He pitched both games, going in in the second game after losing the first as Manager Bartel's ace.

Christopherson, pitching for the Nelsons, held the Clothiers to four hits and no runs in the first game. The Nelsons touched Fitzki for five hits, scoring in the second.

The second game was perhaps the most weird seen on local pastures this year. Both teams scored in the first and seventh innings. The Clothiers came to bat in the eighth inning with the score tied two all. A bombardment of King commenced and he was sent to the bench. Evenson taking his place. Evenson was hit hard and before the third out was made, the Clothiers had crossed the plate six times. The Nelsons were unable to score.

Beranek's fielding in both games was the outstanding feature of the games. Time and again he cut off blows that seemed good for hits. On one occasion he ran nearly to the visitors' bench and speared a foul.

HORNE'S WARRIORS PROVE BEARS TO WINONA GRIDDERS

La Crosse Runs Up Count of 42 to 0 in Game Featured by the Playing of
Layman

Horne's football artists continued their plugging tactics Saturday by downing the Winona high school team at Winona, 42 to 0. The game was called off in the midst of a heavy downpour of rain ten minutes before the conclusion of the last quarter when Captain McGill of Winona sustained an injury to his left arm, putting his team out of working commission. Although the La Crosse boys ran up a rather large score, the game was a hard one; the up river men fought like demons and often advanced the ball within scoring distance only to lose it when the La Crosse line held absolutely impregnable. Especially did La Crosse's chances look dim at the very outset. Winona was tackled on their ten yard line at the kickoff, and made three yards through the line. The first penalty of the game was made on La Crosse for holding. Winona attempted another line play, but fumbled and recovered. Following this, Buck, right half, made a beautiful run through the La Crosse fellows for 45 yards. Enraged, the local highs held McGill's men to no gain on the first play, a five yard loss on the second, an incomplete pass on the third, and Layman intercepted a pass on the fourth attempt, putting the ball in La Crosse's hands for the first time. After exchanging the ball a few times, La Crosse gradually crept down the field, Layman made a beautiful 35 yard run around right end, employing his ducking tactics to advantage, and Blatter brought the ball within easy scoring distance with another gain of 25 yards through the same play. Spettie fumbled on the next play and Kulczynski tackled a Winona behind his own goal for the first score of the game, the referee pronouncing it a safety.

It was not long before La Crosse had again pounded its way to the 20 yard line. This time Layman attempted a field goal but missed.

The first touchdown came at the termination of the first quarter. Winona had made their downs but lost everything when Kulczynski tackled Buck for a big loss on a trick play. McGill attempted to put but Blatter blocked it and La Crosse recovered on Winona's 30 yard line. Spettie then made five yards through tackle. Bott made five more through the same place, this stunt was duplicated by the same two men, and Blatter was sent over for the touchdown on the tackle over tackle play. Score at end of first quarter: La Crosse, 9; Winona, 0.

was especially noteworthy during the second quarter. The first touchdown in this period resulted when Layman made a pretty 35 yard run. The second was made when La Crosse edged down the field, Layman again being sent over with the score.

He kicked both goals but one was disallowed on a technicality. Score at end of second quarter: La Crosse, 22; Winona, 0.

Feinberg, who started at quarter, was knocked out in the second quarter, and Zeisler took his place.

Winona started the second half with a rush and might be said to have outplayed La Crosse during the third period. Buck at right half for the Minnesotaans was their shining light. At times he played havoc with La Crosse's line. Captain McGill, at full, was also able to rip things up at times but this kind of playing could not be continued long enough to score. During the last of the third period La Crosse braced. Blatter went around in his play for twenty yards, Spettie went through the line for twenty more, Kulczynski went around left end for 30 yards, and Roellig was sent over between the goal posts just as the horn blew ending the quarter. Score at end of third quarter: La Crosse, 29; Winona, 0.

Kulczynski pulled off the prettiest run of the day in the last quarter. La Crosse was penalized fifteen yards which sent most of the local players behind their own goal for the next play. La Crosse punted, Kulczynski recovered the punt near the La Crosse goal and ran 70 yards for the score. The ball was carried the whole length of the field in a moment in the play McGill was injured. There was a long delay. Finally, with the mutual consent of both captains, the game was called off by the referee.

Penalties Numerous
The only thing that marred the contest was the repeated penalties for five and fifteen yards. They occurred continually to La Crosse's disadvantage. Acting Captain Kulczynski's pleadings with the referee and umpire were in vain.

About one hundred and fifty La Crosse rooters were present in the crowd of a thousand. Many encountered difficulties on the return trip on account of the heavy rains of the afternoon.

LONG RUN FEATURE OF GAME SATURDAY WITH ST. MARY'S

Hogan Takes Ball Length of Field but Team Is Defeated by Score of 33 to 6

Coach Sputh's plunging normals came through Saturday with another win, this time over St. Mary's college of Winona. They scored their second victory of the year and over Winona teams, Winona Normal having fallen the Saturday before to the tune of 66 to 0.

Hogan's ninety-three yard run for a touchdown in the last few minutes of the second period was the one outstanding feature of the game. In that period, with the score 20 to 0 against his team, and La Crosse apparently ready to score again, the big visiting right half grabbed a pass from Strum's hand and he raced down the field, eluding half of the opposing players and finishing a yard ahead of any of his pursuers. It was the only count made by the visitors for the kick for goal was blocked.

Peyton Breaks Nose
B. Peyton, at quarter for the Winonaans, was taken out in the first quarter with a broken nose.

Within scarcely two minutes after the start of the game, Feinberg was over the line for the first touchdown. La Fromboise made goal. After a few minutes of scrimmage, during which Garry was taken out with a bad leg, Strum went over with the second touchdown, La Fromboise kicking goal.

La Fromboise went out of the game for slugging at the close of the quarter and La Crosse was penalized half of the field.

Feinberg, Strum and Grausenick alternated at carrying the ball in the second quarter. Toward the close of the period, Grausenick intercepted a forward pass on the 46 yard line and raced over the line for a touchdown. Wachter missed goal. After a series of gains to the ten yard line, Strum essayed to send a pass over and Hogan grabbed the oval and raced almost the entire length of the field for the Winona score. Riley kicked out but the kick for goal was blocked.

Grausenick Hurt
Grausenick was hurt in the third quarter and he was replaced by Grounds. Tommy Skemp raced his men up the field and took the ball over for the team's fourth touchdown. Wachter kicked goal.

Grausenick took his old place at left half in the fourth and finished the game. Strum tried a drop kick in this period and failed. Hogan was hurt and Culhane went in in his place. La Crosse hurried the ball down the field and Strum took the ball over for the final score of the game but a few minutes before time was called.

Tommy Skemp lived up to his reputation received a week ago in the Winona normal game, running the locals in great style. He divided the work well, himself making substantial gains on repeated quarterback runs. Strum missed several tries at field goals.

YOUNGEST TOWN IN VERNON COUNTY IS COMING TO FRONT

Sets Record as One of Fastest Growing Communities in Entire State of Wisconsin

HAS NO CIVIC ASSOCIATION

Every Westbyite Is an Ex-officio Member of the Town Booster Club

WESTBY FIRST!

Little more than a third of a century ago O. T. Westby sold general merchandise over the counter of the only store in Westby and dreamed of a city on the spot which he had settled. A blacksmith shop and five log houses were all the company his little enterprise had.

Five years ago the village of Westby had a population of but six or seven hundred souls. Today it boasts of a population of more than 1,400. Westby is the youngest settlement in Vernon county and yet is the second in size and the first in wealth and commercial importance. In a few short years it has doubled the number of its people and has established a record as one of the fastest growing communities in the state of Wisconsin.

Its stores are enterprising in the full sense of the word; its merchants are wide awake, and its manufacturers and wholesalers pull tooth and nail for the home town, while its people—and there hinges the secret of success.

A town is gaged by its people, it is made by its people, the town's worth is the personification of the ideal of the people, and the people of Westby have caught the drift, the real punch of how to make a town grow.

"Boost-Lift-Shove-Push"

Westby has taken hold of the "Wisconsin Idea." It co-operates in everything it does. "Boost-Lift-Shove-Push," any way to make Westby bigger and better," is the slogan the people work with. The any-place-is-better-than-this-place man can't be found and he is not wanted; the people know that Westby is growing and they intend to stay and make it grow more. The very atmosphere of the place breathes the fact that Westby is not big enough for the pessimist.

La Crosse and the smaller cities in this part of the state were thriving while Mr. Westby had the only store on Coon Prairie. The rich farm land adjoining the settlement became more and more populated with farmers who had immigrated from the east and south and Westby grew slightly, of necessity. With the growth of the western part of Wisconsin and its neighboring towns, the spot first located by Mr. Westby prospered. With the "boom" of what was then the "West" Westby could not stand still—but that kind of a growth was not the test of the town.

Discover Tobacco

A little over twenty-five years ago, enterprising farmers discovered that better tobacco could be grown on their land than even in the southern part of the state, but simultaneously the other villages of Vernon had the same vision and Westby had to divide honors in the second boom, caused by the tobacco discovery.

In 1900 Westby was an obscure village with a population of less than 500. Tobacco was being grown in large quantities; grains were being raised to good advantage and the dairy wave had struck that part of the state with force, but still it had to take a back seat.

HENRY OSWALD IS STRUCK BY AUTO ON SPARTASTREET

Shoulder Bone Is Fractured When Man Is Knocked Down by Machine Said to Be Traveling Slowly

SPARTA, Wis., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Henry Oswald was hit and knocked down by an automobile, when he attempted to cross the street Saturday afternoon. Beside the breaking of a few bones and a severe shaking up, he was feeling good today and it is thought that he will get out of the affair all right. Mr. John Harmon, who was driving the car that struck him was traveling at a nominal rate of speed.

Bury Baby

Funeral services for Hulda Lueck, child of Mr. and Mrs. August Lueck, who died at the Lueck home Saturday afternoon, will be held at the German Lutheran church tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. Short service will be held at one-thirty at the home. Hulda was one year, four months and twelve days old. Death was caused from bronchial pneumonia, which resulted from a gripple contracted last winter.

Sparta Beaten

The Sparta high eleven suffered its first defeat this season at the hands of the Reedsburg eleven on the local gridiron, Saturday. Reedsburg kicked off to Sparta, who received the ball and carried it in six downs to goal for a touchdown within three minutes after the game opened. Graf failed to kick goal and the score was six to nothing in Sparta's favor. From then on untried third quarter both teams fought hard, and Reedsburg got through for a touchdown. They kicked goal making the score six to seven in Reedsburg's favor. And thus it remained until the game was over. Both sides played well. Last year the score was six to seven but in Sparta's favor.

Local and Personal

Mr. Charles T. Lamson has resumed his duties as justice after a week spent in attending the Grand Encampment I. O. O. F. at Madison and in visiting relatives in Chicago. Miss Jessie Thompson and Mrs. Frank Griffin of Good Thunder, Minnesota, who have been guests of their aunt, Mrs. Mary Shattuck for several days, left Saturday morning for the home of Mrs. Griffin. They are sisters of Miss Allie Thompson, a former Sparta girl, who is now Mrs. Dowling of South Dakota.

Miss Mae Finger is making a visit with her friends and relatives in Sparta.

Mrs. Henry Christianson and Mrs. Hanson of Tomah, were in Sparta and spent the week-end at the Fred Money home.

Harry Sutherland, who is located in a drug store at Elrop, spent the week-end with his relatives and friends at Sparta.

Claire Van Antwerp and George

Seidel returned Saturday morning from a few days' trip to Chicago.

Cecil Horawil returned to Madison yesterday, after enjoying a week's vacation with his mother, Mrs. Abbie Horswill.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Potts of Cashton, stopped in Sparta yesterday.

W. S. Pope of Tomah, was in Sparta on business Saturday.

Miss Jennie Jones is visiting her relatives and friends in Sparta.

Leslie Dahl is spending a few days at his home in Sparta.

Charles McGonegal, who has a position in La Crosse, spent the week-end at his home in Sparta. He expects to go to Oakdale Wednesday for the wedding of Miss Esther Schroeder and Roy Dunbar.

Charles McMillan went to Cashton

today to take part in the appraising of the Cramer stock.

Principal Clyde Ewers of Hillsboro, came up Friday to visit Sparta friends and see the Reedsburg-Sparta game. He returned to Hillsboro yesterday noon.

Herbert Sherwin has accepted a position as salesman for the Rider Hosiery Manufacturing Co. He left this morning for Summit where he will begin operations.

WIDOW OF MAN FROM WHOM TOWN TOOK ITS NAME STILL RESIDENT

In a cottage on La Crosse street, near the business district of the village, lives Mrs. O. T. Westby, widow of the late O. T. Westby, who first situated there, and who conducted the first store in Westby or Coon Prairie.

Mr. Westby came from Norway when a boy. For more than thirty-five years he lived in Vernon county, and was in the mercantile business for fifteen years. During the Civil war, Mr. Westby fought with the famous "Scandinavian regiment," of Wisconsin. This was the Fifteenth infantry. Mr. Westby was with Company H.

Mrs. Westby was born in Norway in 1854 and has lived in America and Vernon county the greater part of her life. Mrs. Westby has six children living. She is the mother-in-law of Andrew E. Thompson, register of deeds of La Crosse county.

SUFFRAGISTS SEE VICTORY IN JERSEY

Women Confident of Winning Out in New Jersey Election Tomorrow

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 15.—From Cape May in the south to the Kittatinny ridge in the north, New Jersey women are today making a final whirlwind appeal to voters to place the state in suffrage ranks at tomorrow's election.

Mass meetings are being held all over the state, addressed by some of the most prominent suffragists in the country; bands are playing suffrage tunes, and leaders cautioning their lieutenants to keep their eyes on the little slots in the ballot box through which victory may slip.

Today marks the end of one of the most brilliantly conducted campaigns for suffrage ever waged in this country. Aided by their New York sisters, Jersey women have spared neither time nor money. Estimates from conservative sources indicate that the vote is going to be close. Suffrage workers are confident of success, but they realize their majority, if they win, is not going to be great. The "antis" have not been idle and have flooded the state with speeches and propaganda.

WELCOMES TRIP TO END IN JAIL

Man Whose Conscience Drove Him to Surrender Pleaded to See Deputy with Requisition

William Muncie, who voluntarily gave himself up to the local police October 12, is today on the way back to St. Joseph, Mo., in custody of a deputy sheriff, to face a charge of stealing $85 about a year ago. The Missouri officer appeared with requisition papers last night, and Muncie expressed pleasure at seeing him and at the prospect of paying the penalty of his crime.

When he walked into the local police station last week, Muncie told how a gang of drunken friends had persuaded him to rob a house and make off with $85 to continue their spree. He fled to St. Joseph after the affair, he said, but a troubled conscience pursued him all over the country and drove him to surrender.

HEAVY RAINS DO DAMAGE IN TEXAS

Cotton and Other Crops Destroyed and Railway Service Tied Up by Floods

DENISON, Texas, Oct. 15.—Hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of crops have been destroyed and railway traffic in some sections of north central Texas and southern Oklahoma was demoralized today by floods which resulted from the heavy rains of yesterday and last night.

The corn crop has been entirely ruined in various places, while thousands of bales of cotton have been destroyed. All crops suffered heavily.

The Red River, which rose 13 feet, carried away 165 feet of trestle on the north end of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway, together with four loaded cars used as an anchor. All passenger trains north over the Katy and Frisco lines have been annihilated.

Washouts on the Katy line near Atoka, Okla., and on the Santa Fe near Gainesville, Texas, have interrupted service on those lines. Small bridges and culverts all through this section have been swept away.

LIQUOR DEALER HELD

Frank Schraeder was today arraigned before Judge John Brindley on a charge of selling liquor to John Miller, a posted man. Miller is now held awaiting trial in circuit court on a second offense charge of drunkenness. Schraeder pleaded not guilty and his case was continued.

PLAN BAZAAR

The ladies of the German Lutheran church on West Avenue will hold an apron bazaar in the church Thursday and Friday. Supper will be served Thursday night, and an entertainment will be given at the Friday night entertainment.

RED FOX IS SHOT IN SHELBY TOWN

Frank Mach, Ninth and Tyler streets, proved himself one of the best rifle shots in La Crosse county last night when he placed a bullet behind the ear of a full-grown red fox from a distance of 160 yards. Mach was out hunting with his dog. The animal routed the fox and a long chase ensued. Mr. Fox came too near Mach's trusty rifle and was this morning brought to the court house for bounty. County Clerk Bert A. Jolivet referred the hunter to the chairman of the town of Shelby for credentials that the animal was killed there.

STAVRUM FIGURES PROMINENTLY IN BADGER VICTORY

La Crosse Man Recovers Fumble and Score Results; Gunderson and Weimar in the Game

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Stavrum, Weimar and Gunderson of La Crosse, with other members of the varsity football team, returned last night from La Fayette, where they participated Saturday in the gridiron struggle which eliminated Purdue as a contender for the conference championship. The score was 28 to 3, but it does not indicate the relative strength of the two teams. Purdue put up a far better game against the Badgers than the count would indicate.

Stavrum was the only La Crosse man in the Wisconsin lineup when play began. He remained in the game until the middle of the fourth quarter when Cramer was sent in to relieve him. It was also at this time that Coach Juneau pulled Pottinger and Byers out and substituted Gunderson and Weimar, the former at center and the latter at half.

Stavrum Recovers Fumble For the third time in as many games, Stavrum was directly responsible for a Wisconsin touchdown. Just before he was taken out of Saturday's game he recovered a Purdue fumble on the Purdue 30 yard line. In the next play Byers skirted the end for a touchdown.

Dow, Byers, Greuz, Smith and Simpson, comprising the entire Badger backfield, were the day's stars.

Wilce Springs Surprise

Ohio State's 3 to 3 tie with the fast Illinois team Saturday leaves no doubt but that a battle royal may be expected at Camp Randall Saturday, when Jack Wilce's team meets the Badgers. That the former La Crosse high school football coach has developed the strongest team he has put into the field since leaving La Crosse, is certain. The remarkable game put up by Ohio against the Suckers upset all football dope in the middle west. Illinois was counted on for an easy victory. Instead, it was saved from a defeat in the last few minutes of play, when, with Ohio State leading 3 to 0, Macomber booted the ball over the posts for a field goal.

To Improve Defense

Coach Juneau will make every effort to strengthen the Wisconsin defense during the ensuing week. Offensively, the Badger eleven showed up to marked advantage in the Purdue contest. Defensively, the playing was ragged at times, and Purdue had little trouble in manipulating successful forward passes.

The lineup Saturday:

Purdue—Pultz, rb; Bishop, fb; Walter, lb; Finn, qb; Van Aken, re; Buechner, rt; Mason, rg; Blocker (Capt.), c; Proud, lg; Berns, lt; Stuchfield, le.

Wisconsin—Smith, rb; Kreuz, fb; Byers, lb; E. Simpson, qb; Rauer, re; Koch, rt; Gardner, rg; Pottinger, c; Hancock, lg; Buck (Capt.), lt; Stavrum, le.

Summary:

Touchdowns—Byers, 2; Hancock, Cramer.

Goals from Touchdowns—Kreuz, E. Simpson, 3.

Goal from field—Pultz.

Field judge—Schommer, Chicago.

Referee—Mardisohn, Michigan.

Umpire—Hammond, Michigan.

Head linesman—Klepy, Illinois.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Frank Netzer, 1403 Charles street, entertained a party of friends at his home Saturday night in honor of his ninth birthday. A birthday supper was served following which the party attended the performance at the Dreamland theater.

Those present were Clayton Harris, Bernhard, Howard and Harvard Temple, Chester Lee, James Cain, Walter Anderson, Alvin Opsahl, Morris Morkved and Frank Netzer.

LA CROSSE EQUITY SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS TODAY

F. A. S. Price is Chosen President and N. M. Scott Head of Board

La Crosse Local, W 6380, American Society of Equity, this morning elected officers, and delegates to the state convention, Sheboygan, December 1.

The officers:

F. A. S. Price, president.

H. E. Mott, first vice president.

W. A. Briggs, second vice president.

Guy G. Wisland, secretary-treasurer.

Directors:

N. M. Scott, chairman.

W. A. Thomas.

Guy G. Wisland.

Delegates:

F. A. S. Price.

H. E. Mott.

John Phalon.

According to President Price's notion "Whether the tail shall wag the dog" is the most interesting question to come before the state convention. The "tail" is the "I. C. U.," headquarters at Madison, and M. Wes Tubbs, state secretary of the Society of Equity, is said to have discovered it.

Mr. Price regards the I. C. U. as a buying and selling agency of a sort that, as auxiliaries of the parent organization, are of great practical value to the members, but he objects that this particular child of Equity is "trying to be the whole damn family."

At 3 o'clock this afternoon La Crosse County Union 254, American Society of Equity, met at Hotel Stoddard and elected officers, and delegates to the state convention.

Officers:

F. A. S. Price, president.

Wesley J. Dawson, Campbell, first vice president.

F. E. Uehling, Barre Mills, second vice president.

Guy G. Wisland, secretary and treasurer.

Delegates were named as follows:

F. A. S. Price, delegate at large; F. E. Uehling, Otto Piske, Barre Mills; H. E. Mott, La Crosse; W. J. Dawson, Campbell; Fred Brown, Minnoro; E. T. Fuller, Lewis Valley; M. D. Halvorson, West Salem; Alfred Henker, West Salem.

The following were named as alternates:

L. A. Mott, E. E. Ryder, Emil Miller, John Schmeckpepper, O. C. Hanson, O. J. Peterson, James Wilson, John Larson, H. F. Meyer.

In the county union the secretaries of the various locals are, ex-officio, the executive board.

Trust is Ousted

Stringent efforts are made each season on the part of the American Tobacco company and other large corporations to buy up the tobacco grown in the vicinity of Westby, but Mr. Bekkedal is given the first opportunity to buy, always. Mr. Bekkedal's funds are always at the disposal of commercial enterprises that will aid the growth of Westby, and he is an ardent enthusiast of the "boost Westby" movement which the town has taken hold of.

Westby Farmers were among the first to see the value of tobacco production when it was introduced in the western part of Wisconsin. For twenty-five years tobacco has been the leading agricultural crop.

Westby Grown "Havanas"

Buy one of those ten cent "havana" cigars with a gaudy band. Look for the name of the factory, and if the cigar isn't manufactured in Havana or doesn't come from a factory which you know makes the real thing, it is "50-50" that you are smoking a Westby "filler."

FORTY LITTLE GIRLS IN COMMUNION CLASS

Forty girls between the ages of seven and nine partook of first communion at St. Mary's church yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock. The communion was administered by the Rev. Dr. Robert Condon, pastor of the church. Eighteen little girls acted as flower girls at the service.

Bishop Schwebach will hold services at the church next Sunday morning, when a large class will be confirmed. He will be assisted by a Jesuit father who will come to the city for the occasion. The confirmation exercises will take place at the 10 o'clock mass.

MORE THAN FOUR MILLION POUNDS YEAR'S TOBACCO

Milady Nicotine Patron Goddess of Westby; Five Warehouses Ship $300,000 Worth

TOBACCO KING IS MODEST MAN

M. H. Bekkedal Never Had Picture Printed and He Will Not Be Interviewed

Four million, five hundred thousand pounds of tobacco were packed and sold from the five warehouses of the Bekkedal Tobacco company at Westby during 1914. This quantity represents, in round figures, 15,000 cases with a value of approximately $300,000, and is only a small part of the tobacco packed in the sixteen warehouses owned by M. H. Bekkedal, manager of his own tobacco plants, and in the bargain, the most unassuming man in Vernon county.

Mr. Bekkedal's employees receive approximately $7,000 weekly during the winter months. Employees of the Westby warehouses receive upwards of $2,000 weekly. "Hard times talk" is an unknown quantity during the winter for there is enough work in the tobacco warehouses for all, and naturally everyone is prosperous. Aside from the five warehouses in Westby, Mr. Bekkedal maintains one at Coon Valley, two at La Crosse, three at Viroqua, three at Soldiers Grove, one at Viola and one at Bosconia.

Conducts Business at Home

But the owner and manager of these plants is seldom away from his home town during the busy winter months. If he takes a vacation, it isn't while his employees are sorting the tobacco, but it is during the off season—while the tobacco is growing.

Mr. Bekkedal refused to be interviewed by a Tribune representative recently. Sitting in his private office at the Westby State bank, which he owns and from which his tobacco is purchased by eastern buyers, he pleaded not to be held up as an object of comparison. Mr. Bekkedal has never had himself photographed, and his only desire for publicity is when it will aid Westby. The tobacco king, as he has been nicknamed by his friends at home and the eastern tobacco factories which covet his production, believes in the progression of the place in which he lives—he is ever loyal to Westby and Westby is loyal to him.

Trust is Ousted

Stringent efforts are made each season on the part of the American Tobacco company and other large corporations to buy up the tobacco grown in the vicinity of Westby, but Mr. Bekkedal is given the first opportunity to buy, always. Mr. Bekkedal's funds are always at the disposal of commercial enterprises that will aid the growth of Westby, and he is an ardent enthusiast of the "boost Westby" movement which the town has taken hold of.

Westby farmers were among the first to see the value of tobacco production when it was introduced in the western part of Wisconsin. For twenty-five years tobacco has been the leading agricultural crop.

Westby Grown "Havanas"

Buy one of those ten cent "havana" cigars with a gaudy band. Look for the name of the factory, and if the cigar isn't manufactured in Havana or doesn't come from a factory which you know makes the real thing, it is "50-50" that you are smoking a Westby "filler."

The early tobacco raisers are to

Westby Business Barometers Point Steadily to Prosperity

The Bank of Westby

It has been said that a bank is the barometer of the community. Westby is watching two barometers rise past the "fair weather" mark and reach "prosperity" with predictions that there will be no change in the weather for some time to come.

The rumble of the European war, heard through the press, does not bother Westby businessmen and farmers as they deposit their money.

Two banks, namely the Westby State bank and the Bank of Westby show resources of $679,482, and this was at the beginning of the present year. Each institution has increased since.

It is doubtful that any "business depression" or "scare" would ever harm the village. The banks' deposits have never failed to increase during one year. The Westby State bank is the older of the two institutions, the Bank of Westby being a comparatively young concern, having started business in 1912.

January 1, 1912, the Bank of Westby showed resources of $66,217.27, while the one bank alone now shows resources of $225,000.

The Westby state bank, of which M. H. Bekkedal is president, has resources now of over $454,482.89.

generation got behind with the capital to back their sons' enterprises and Westby started up-grade pulling like a mogul with the safety valve held down tight. The real "boom" of the village came long after Opportunity had made its appearance, but when realization of the resources that lay within the peoples' grasp was felt, Mr. Opportunity grew fat in the eyes of the inhabitants, and others inquired of his sleek condition and came to Westby to live, and now these are introducing Mr. Opportunity to still others.

Everyone an Association

Westby is one of the few really progressive towns in the United States without a civic association. The village formerly had one which had been discontinued. The reason why it was stopped is not known, but it is evident that the town is progressing without such a body. The fact is rather startling in the face of the progress made, but the answer may lie in the true fact that every man in Westby is an association all in himself—a little committee of one to boost for himself and the town.

"Greatest Place Out-of-Doors"

"The Greatest Place out-of-doors" in the way the Westby man fondly speaks of his home, and he shows that he thinks it is the greatest place in the world by the "I Will" spirit he displays.

An imminent reason for Westby's success lies in its people's evident belief in self conservation, in the manufacturing and producing at home as far as possible the things consumed at home, and the keeping and employing at home of its young people.

Westby has five tobacco warehouses employing some 500 hands during five months of the year. The town boasts of one of the most thriving co-operative creameries in the state, and even has a packing plant of its own, capable of meeting the appetite at home and for miles around. Westby reads its own newspaper, the Westby Times, and builds its houses and barns with lumber from two prosperous lumber concerns which add employment and wealth to the community. Westby farmers buy their farm machinery from a co-operative implement concern; ride in Ford automobiles and buy their groceries at home from a co-operative concern. Tobacco wholesalers doing hundreds of thousands of dollars business annually conduct their business in the home town, and maintain no "head" offices elsewhere. "Deal at home," a synonym for "co-operation" crops out everywhere and the "idea" is injected into every enterprise in the town. One bank has just completed a new building and with its sister concern, shows deposits of almost a million dollars.

Six Business Blocks

Westby has six business blocks. Some of the most modern and up-to-the-minute stores and offices to be found anywhere are crowded to capacity and the merchants are reaching out for more room. Two hotels cannot always accommodate the visitors, although one was recently enlarged, and everyone, not excluding the village "dads," are talking new buildings and more room. The time will come shortly when the tobacco warehouses and the lumber concerns, now situated near the business district, will have to give way to the demand for more space to grow.

At present the outskirts of the village are dotted with new dwellings and homes under construction. In the neighborhood of fifty houses are being erected and many small buildings are going up everywhere. To find a house for rent is next to impossible. Westby is a village of homes.

Farmers Settle in Westby

No small part of the village—as is every village—is composed of retired farmers. Many of these have picked out Westby for their home who lived much closer to other places. The Coon Prairie village is the place where many farmers settle when they tire of the farm life. Along with its prosperity, the town offers the farmer and his family amusement. The younger generation remembers the "eight hours of play" maxim, which adds more to the appeal to the farmer to come to Westby.

Restaurants Are Barometers

Westby is "dry." Three large restaurants are reaping some of the harvest that the saloon would get, but Westby tends more towards solids than liquid. The tobacco workers, employed during the winter, have a recess from work during the morning.

The eating places are at that time crowded with cake and coffee eaters.

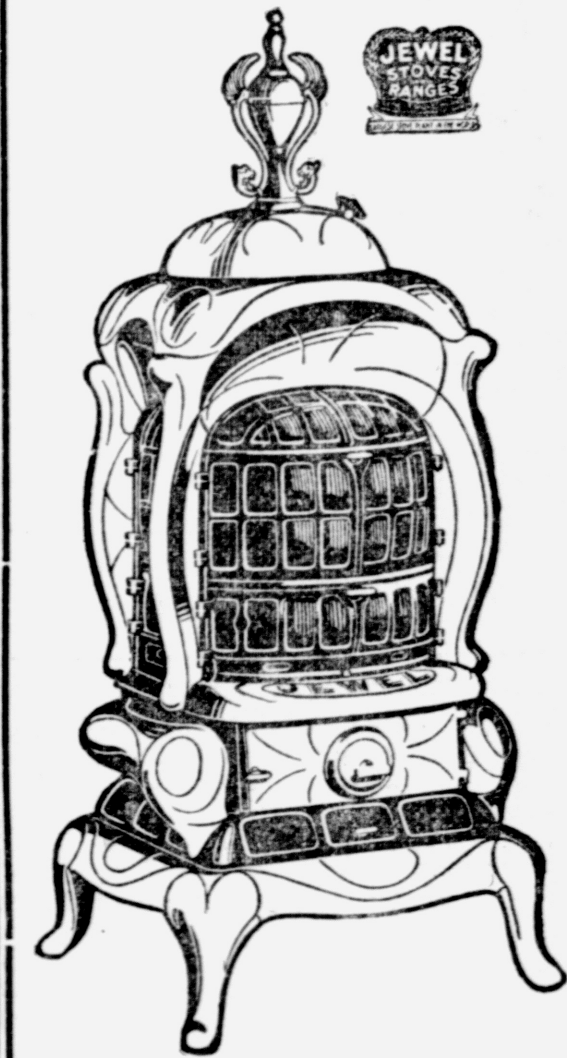

Coon Prairie and Westby

An odd sight meets the eye of the stranger who comes to Westby for the first time when the Southeastern train negotiates the top of Coon Valley, one of the real beauty spots of the northwest, and strikes the level of Coon prairie.

The contrast between the almost mountainous, yet fertile valley, and the view of thirty miles of level land on each side of the railroad, with Westby, dotted with houses under construction, in the center of the view, is startling. Although the large tobacco sheds and the hillsides scattered with cattle prepare the stranger for the sight of the prosperous village he is to see, he is almost always hard to convince that the greatest village in Vernon county lies straight ahead of him.

The conductor of the Southeastern passenger train, coming up the steep incline of the valley, was standing on the front platform of the head coach in front of the engine tender, telling a new "drum-be thanked for the grade and value of the tobacco grown around Westby. They were the experimenters whose work is now reaping the benefit for the grower of today. The coarse tobacco of the southern states was soon exchanged for the all-cigar tobacco raised then in the southern part of this state. Westby tobacco growers are now producing a Spanish tobacco, equal to much of the real Havana.

Westby farmers are experts in the production of their first crop—and they are now educated to the point where they know how to care for it when it is picked.

Wisconsin Second State

Connecticut is first of the states of the union in the production of the "smoke weed" and Wisconsin is a close second—that is in the production of the best tobacco grown in this country—and the country of Coon Prairie and Coon valley, surrounding Westby does not take second place with any locality in the state.

"Number one," the largest of the five tobacco warehouses of the Bekkedal company, is an example of how a tobacco plant should be built and conducted, and the four other plants, all of which are not in operation at the present time, while older and not as large, are conducted in the same efficient manner.

DANE COUNTY DOCS DENY BACCHANALIAN ORGIES AT SMOKER

MADISON, Oct. 18.—Dane county medical men are considerably warm under their scientific collars over the story given out some days ago by Dr. Julia Riddle of Oshkosh that the recent smoker given by the state medical association at the conclusion of their convention in Milwaukee would have made the puny Bacchanalian efforts of the old Romans look like a sewing circle tea.

After suffering in silence for some days the association met last night and passed a resolution branding the report as "malicious," "outrageous" and "unethical."

"That story was absolutely uncalculated for," said a prominent physician, who refused the use of his name. "All we had was buttermilk, lemonade and beer—for the few who used it—and a young lady from the Majestic theater who was modestly dressed and did an artistic 'muscular dance.'"

The physician admitted that she wore tight, but said that she was further decorated by an "oriental tunic effect."

ITALIAN ARMIES APPEAL

ROME, Via Havre, Oct. 18.—Armenians living in Italy today addressed to the king an appeal to save their countrymen in Turkey, reminding him that the Princes of Savoy once bore the title of Kings of Armenia.

main floor—raised far above the level of the ground—and the sorting and packing is done in the basement, slightly below the level of the ground. The tobacco workers—both men and women—are given plenty of light, heat and ventilation in the packing rooms and more and better work is the result. Their benches are arranged in systematic order along the walls, and the packers working in the center. Seldom could one find a more contented lot of workers than those in the Westby warehouses.

No need is ever found to import foreign labor into Westby. The conservation of the home people, as pointed out in another article, is the cause. Many, though, come from nearby towns to work during the winter, and some even go from La Crosse to Westby to take advantage of the tobacco sorting during the busy months.

BRIGHTER CHILDREN

Children are probably brighter to-day than a generation ago—but are they stronger? That's a grave question. So many pinched faces, dulled eyes and languid feelings make us wonder if they will ever grow into robust, healthy men and women.

If your children catch colds easily, are tired when rising, lack healthy color, or find studies difficult, give them Scott's Emulsion for one month to enrich their blood and restore the body-forces to healthy action.

Scott's Emulsion is used in private schools. It is not a "patent medicine," simply a highly concentrated oil-food, without alcohol or harmful drugs. It cannot harm; it improves blood; it benefits lungs and strengthens the system. Your druggist has it—refuse substitutes. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 15-21
